Reds Demand Explanation Of Diver Episode

Britain Disclaims Responsibility For Frogman's Mission

LONDON, May 11 (UP)—Moscow radio Friday night revealed that Russia sent a formal demand to Britain to explain the presence of a British "frogman" near a visiting Soviet warship in Portsmouth harbor last month.

British officials replied that the diver had no orders to work in the area of the ship, the broadcast said.

It was the first report of diplomatic exchanges between Soviet authorities and Britain on the mysterious disappearance of underwater expert Lionel (Buster) Crabbe.

Crabbe, decorated by Britain for heroism in World War II, was reported missing while conducting underwater tests in the vicinity of anchored Russian ships.

Moscow radio said a Soviet note asked for an explanation of Crabbe's activities. It said the British foreign office replied that if the frogman was near the Russian ship, he had no business there.

Earlier, the Soviet press accused Britain of engaging in "shameful underwater espionage" against the cruiser that took the two top Soviet leaders to Britain last month.

The Soviet note said it was revealed that a diver was working on secret tests in the harbor and

Truman Demands 'No Compromise' On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Former President Truman today summoned "liberals" to do battle with the Eisenhower administration.

He said the administration is "preparing for us another election campaign of high-level vice presidential smiles and low-level vice presidential sneers."

In a letter to the ninth annual convention of Americans for Democratic Action, advocate of "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" policies, Truman accused the GOP of three years of "concealment and complacency."

He said the "job of the liberals is to bring the real issues out from behind the smoke screen and help all the people to reach an informed opinion."

Truman's letter was made public at a news conference at which ADA Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr. said ADA will urge that the major parties in their platforms make an "unequivocal pledge to support the Supreme Court decisions on desegregation."

Civil rights, mentioned by both Truman and Rauh, will occupy an important place in the deliberations of the three-day ADA convention, Rauh said.

"If either party compromises this issue—the Democrats in an attempt to maintain unity with the Dixiecrats and the Republicans in search for Dixiecrat votes—it will lose not only the Negro vote but the support of the moderate majority."

Britain, France To Sell More Arms To Israel Defense

LONDON, May 11 (UP)—Britain and France soon will step up shipments of defensive weapons to Israel with the approval of the United States, authoritative sources said Friday.

The informants said the shipments will be on "a moderate scale" and will be carried out in three co-ordination among the Big Three Western powers in line with their tripartite declaration of 1950.

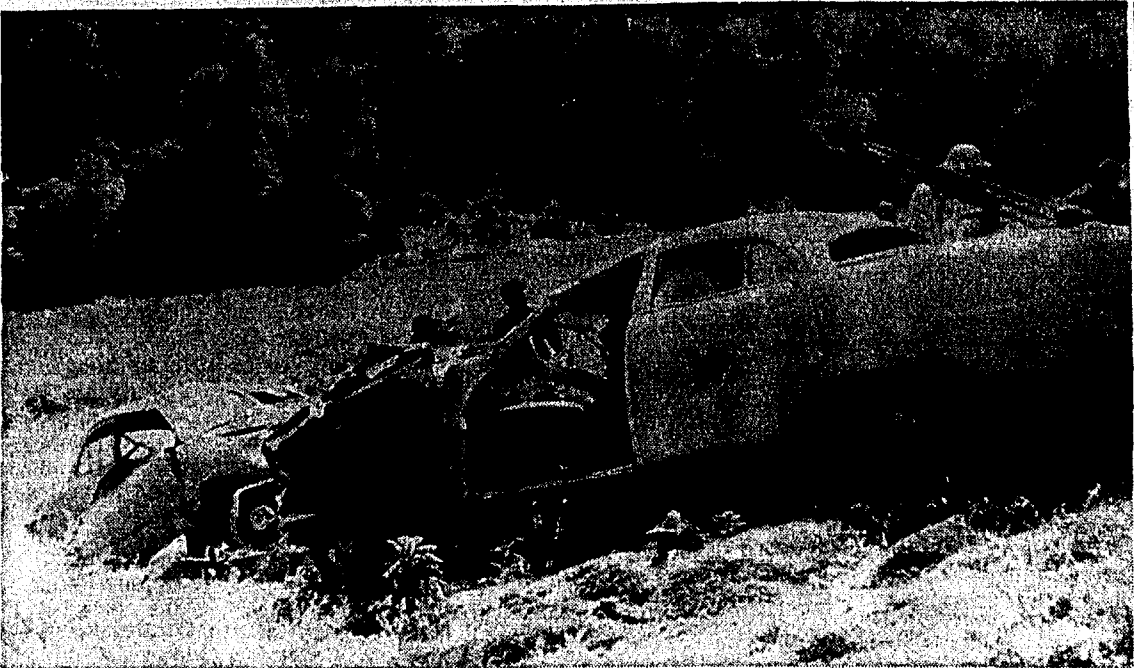

There will be no appreciable increase in arms shipments by the United States, the sources said. This policy is intended to avert the possibility of a "reprisal" step up of Communist arms deliveries to the Arab nations, they said.

The official Western view is that new shipments of "non-American" defensive weapons would not provide the Soviets with a valid reason to increase their arm race in the still explosive Middle East.

The informants said Britain is expected to begin shipments "in the very near future." They will consist mostly of ground weapons and anti-aircraft guns.

NO DEATHS IN FREAK ACCIDENT—No deaths resulted from a freak accident involving the two cars above when the car in the background attempted to pass the other about 12 miles southeast of Monroe on Highway 15 about 2:45 p.m. Friday. Hospitalized in Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. Preston D. Shivers, 43 and 39 respectively, of Route One, Delhi. Both husband and wife received bruises, and Preston was reported at the hospital to have also suffered lacerations on the forehead, multiple contusions, possible internal injuries and broken ribs. Treated at the hospital and released were Lonnie Lee Parker, 38, also of Delhi, and Henry H. Steadman, 57, of 309 North Seventh, West Monroe, driver of the passing car (foreground). Steadman's front bumper reportedly caught on the rear bumper of the car shown here as partly in the water, and both automobiles ended up on the side of the road in Lafourche swamp. (Photo by C. E. Supreme Court Under Fire From Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—The Supreme Court came under sharp attack at a Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearing today for its ruling that the federal government has sole jurisdiction in sedition cases.

The decision handed down April 2, had the effect of upsetting state laws against subversion.

Sens. Eastland (D-Miss) and McCarthy (R-Wis) criticized the Supreme Court as "politicians instead of lawyers." McCarthy said, "They don't understand what they are doing."

McCarthy singled out Chief Justice Earl Warren for attack, saying: "We made a mistake in confirming as chief justice a man who had no judicial experience and very little legal experience."

Eastland, who has denounced the court repeatedly for its ruling against segregation in the public schools, said: "The Supreme Court is a political body."

Gunman Escapes After Futile Try At Robbing Bank

NEW ORLEANS, May 11 (UP)—A well dressed middle-aged gunman lost his nerve in an attempted bank robbery today when the quick-thinking teller dropped to the floor.

The gunman walked into the Mid City Branch of the Hibernia Bank and Trust Co., about 1:20 p.m., and handed a note demanding money to teller Fred Zimmerman, 23.

The note said: "This is a stick-up. Start with big bills. First try to act normal and don't give away or I'll kill you."

Zimmerman said the man opened his coat and reached for a gun.

The teller dropped to the floor and the man fled, dropping his empty money bag along the way.

The bandit fled in a car apparently driven by an accomplice. The car believed by police to have been stolen, was later found abandoned.

The same bank was robbed of $114,600 on Jan. 9, 1948 by five men, marking the biggest robbery in the history of the city. All five were caught and sentenced.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 11 (UP)—A blind University of Tennessee student pleaded guilty in criminal court today to a drunken driving charge and received a $100 fine and 60-day jail term, both suspended.

Edgar Lee Edens of Knoxville told Judge J. Fred Bibb he was "operating the gear, brake and clutch" and another student, unidentified, was "putting the gas" to the car when he was arrested in May, 1955.

Reds Announce Workers No Longer Bound To Jobs By Law In Soviet Union

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today Soviet workers no longer will be bound to their jobs by law.

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) revoked a series of laws dating as far back as 1940, thereby ending prosecutions of workers who leave their jobs without permission. The announcement said workers who now want to leave their jobs can do so by providing two weeks' notice.

Directors of factories and institutions retain, however, the power to fine workers for unjustified absences or to dismiss them. The dismissal still will be entered in the workers' labor book—a sort of passport all workers in the Soviet Union must carry. Such notations remain black marks against the workers.

The decree of the presidium, which acts between sessions for the Parliament, stipulated that persons serving sentences for having left their jobs without permission are released, and prosecution is ended.

In the field of journalism, the annual News-State World Publishing Corporation made awards to Miss Carreca Clark, designated as the best woman reporter of the year, and to Ezra Adams, as the best man reporter. The prizes were presented by Bert Hatten, managing editor of the Monroe Morning World and an alumnus of Northeast. He also made the presentation of the Anne Lee West Stahl Editorial award which was captured by Ezra Adams. The Florence Britain Vow Memorial award for the most outstanding work done on student publications by a journalism major was given to James W. Parkerson, committee member, said at 10 p.m. that over $1,500 was accounted for and that the total was expected to be over $2,000.

Brooks expressed the committee's thanks and appreciation to all those participating in the door-to-door solicitations for funds to fight Cerebral Palsy.

Money donated last night will be used for furtherance of the Cerebral Palsy school at Selman Field, now two and a half years old, and consisting of 30 students and 10 teachers and therapists.

Brooks said last night that if anyone desires to make donations but was missed in the two-hour canvass period, they are asked to mail them to United Cerebral Palsy Association, P. O. Box 1305, Monroe, La.

Cypriots Say Pair Hanged In Reprisal

Missing British Soldiers Claimed Victims Of Rebels

NICOSIA, Cyprus, May 11 (UP)—The pro-Greek underground proclaimed in a flood of leaflets Friday that it had hanged two British soldiers in an eye-for-an-eye reprisal for the execution of two partisans. The British doubted it.

Nevertheless, British troops flared. Troops cracked down against any semblance of disorder. One 13-year-old son of a Cypriot policeman was shot dead in the main square of Nicosia while passing out the pamphlets that claimed two corporals were executed for the hanging of two Cypriot gunmen for murder.

Governor General Sir John Harding indicated that he did not believe the Eoka underground claim. An official government statement said the leaflets contained inaccuracies, and that there never has been "the slightest evidence" that Eoka captured the two corporals.

The leaflets signed by the mysterious underground leader "Digenis" are "patently an attempt to make propaganda capital from the fact that the two men are known to be missing," Harding said.

The leaflets, printed in English, spurred the hunt for the Eoka leader who goes only by the name "Digenis," but he is believed to be a British-trained Greek colonel named George Grivas. Little is known about him.

George Blames Tough Opposition For Retirement

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Sen. Walter F. George said Friday he reluctantly decided to retire from politics because of the vigorous challenge facing him for his Senate seat by former Gov. Herman Talmadge.

In a statement addressed to "the people of Georgia," the 78-year-old dean of the Senate said he had expected "unanimous approval and undivided support" which would make a re-election campaign unnecessary.

He said it then became apparent he would have to wage "a rigorous campaign in the extreme summer heat."

On the advice of his physician and out of a desire to give his friends "freedom of political action," he decided to withdraw, he said.

Talmadge, who had made clear he would contest George for his Senate seat, formally announced his candidacy immediately after George withdrew.

George, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, has been offered a post by President Eisenhower as special ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Without mentioning Talmadge by name, George contrasted his experience and influence with that which a newcomer to the Senate would have to offer.

"My willingness to continue to serve was not to gratify any personal ambition," he said. "It is due to the importance of retaining the influence and power of committee chairmanships of the Congress to Georgia and the South."

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommended today a 300-mile westward extension for National Airlines for New Orleans to Houston.

Examiner Ferdinand D. Moran said the authorization should be for a three-year period to permit an experimental, one-airline through plane service between Miami and Houston by way of Tampa and New Orleans.

Moran said that competing proposals by three other airlines—Brainerd, Delta and Eastern—should be denied.

If no exceptions are filed, the examiner's initial decision will be accepted by the CAB as final.

LSU To Dismiss Student Leaders Of Campus Raids

BATON ROUGE, May 11 (UP)—Troy Middleton, president of Louisiana State University, said today any student implicated in recent party raids would be dismissed.

"Students found to be responsible for organizing and leading these childish outbreaks do not deserve the privilege of attending LSU," Middleton said. "They will be dismissed."

Dean of Men Arden French said individual cases were under investigation and indicated the LSU disciplinary board would not meet until next week.

None of the raiders succeeded in getting any pants in raids Wednesday night and Thursday night.

In the opening raid this week, an estimated 600 men students swarmed around the women's dormitories where they heckled by scantily-clad co-eds on balconies.

Police used tear gas in breaking up the raid but as the men were turned back, they began throwing rocks, bricks and clods of dirt at the police.

Twenty-nine LSU students and 13 high school students were picked up by police, questioned and then released.

Another raid was attempted last night and police again used tear gas to disperse the students. The raiders moved to the LSU campus security office and smashed its windows. Loudspeakers threatened martial law on the campus.

The combined forces of state, city and parish law officers finally restored order.

U. S. Studies Action In Tidelands Lease Case As Injunction Blocks Sale

LAKE CHARLES, La., May 11 (AP)—Louisiana, in a bold bid to bulwark its claim to oil-rich areas in the Gulf of Mexico, today used a court order to block a federal leasing scheduled Tuesday.

State District Judge Mark C. Pickrel granted a temporary injunction against federal leasing of land inside the three league (10 1/4 mile) boundary claimed by the state.

The judge set a hearing for a preliminary injunction May 16. Louisiana's outgoing Atty. Gen. Fred LeBlanc and incoming Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion jointly requested the court order.

They accused two federal officials of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management and 25 oil companies of conspiracy to trespass on approximately 355,000 acres of Louisiana waterbottoms in the Gulf of Mexico.

The bureau, part of the U. S. Interior Department, asked for bids May 15 at New Orleans on more than 500,000 acres, all but 23,000 off the Louisiana Coast.

In Washington, the Interior Department said it was asking the Justice Department to take appropriate action so that it could go ahead with the leaseings as scheduled. The Justice Department said it had asked that the papers in the case, including the order, be (Continued On Second Page)

Only 'Token' Contribution In War Seen

Air Chief Differs Sharply With Ike And Sec'y. Wilson

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, told Congress Friday that carrier-based Navy planes could make only a "small" contribution in any strategic air war with Russia.

His statement appeared to put him at odds with President Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. Both have cited the role of carrier-borne naval aircraft in replying to Democratic charges that the administration is slighting the long-range bomber program.

Appearing before a Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee, Twining was asked by Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) about the relative strategic capabilities of the Air Force's land-based bombers and the Navy's carrier-based aircraft.

"We must be realistic about such factors as the probable location of the carriers, as well as the amount of striking power they could contribute, which is small," he replied.

Choosing his words carefully, Twining also said he believes Mr. Eisenhower's defense budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 is strong enough to deter an enemy attack "this year." But he emphasized that more money and weapons will be needed next year.

At his news conference last Friday, Mr. Eisenhower was asked about Democratic charges that the United States was lagging behind Russia in production of B-52 intercontinental hydrogen bombers.

The President replied that no reversal was in the offing.

CAA Clears Up Meaning Of Funds Ban On Airports

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Civil Aeronautics Administrator Charles Lowen Jr. said today a CAA policy statement issued last month "is not intended in any way to force integration" of races at airports.

On the other hand, he told the Senate Commerce Committee, he has been informed that the policy established before he became administrator, is to carry out "the general executive policy not to use federal funds in any way which might result in furthering the practice of segregation."

There was vigorous questioning from Sens. Wofford (D-SC) and Ervin (D-NC), who contended the CAA has gone further on the segregation question than the Supreme Court did in its school decision.

"If a particular airport requests federal aid in the construction of a terminal building which is intended to have segregated facilities, and federal aid in the construction of a runway, the federal government will participate in the construction of the runway and in all portions of the terminal building except those which are designed or intended for segregated use."

Strategic bombing involves attacks on an enemy's cities, military bases and key production centers. The Air Force also is responsible for tactical support of field forces and the interception of enemy bombers.

Wilson previously testified before Congress on "the strategic capability that our carrier-based aircraft add to our retaliatory striking power."

But Twining told the Senate subcommittee that "the range of carrier aircraft is relatively short compared with their land-based counterpart." He said the Navy's ability to hit strategic targets is limited by "relatively short" range attack planes.

Today's suit was the first legal blow by the incoming administration of Gov. Elect Earl K. Long in Louisiana's prolonged fight for offshore rights out three leagues in the Gulf.

The 1953 submerged lands act of Congress granted state control out to "historic boundaries," interpreted as three leagues in Texas and Florida, but three miles elsewhere.

Louisiana contends its offshore boundary was three leagues when it entered the union, and the claim now is pending before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Gremillion said, "Gov. Long and I will put forth great effort to protect the interests of our state against this landgrabbing."

Bonuses for offshore leases have added up to many millions of dollars in both state and federal ledgers.

Gremillion explained that if the tracts in the "twilight zone," between three miles and three leagues, were leased, the federal agents and the oil companies would be in contempt of court.

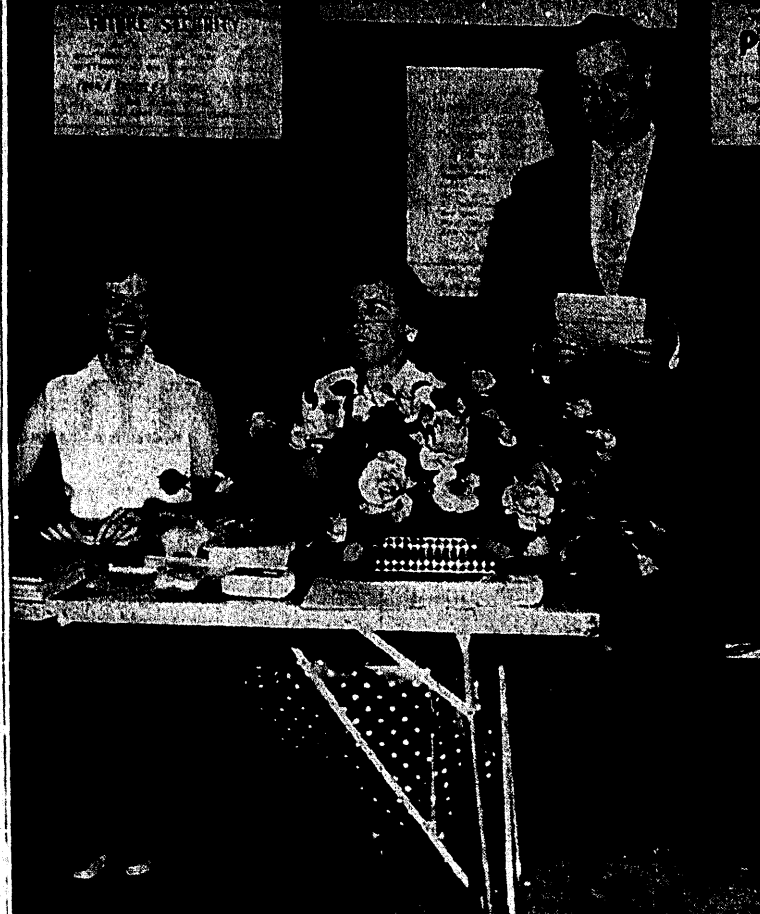

The petition name Sidney Groom, New Orleans branch manager, and Edward Wooley, Washington director of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management.

The order prohibited Groom and Wooley from receiving, opening or awarding bids on leases. It also forbade the oil companies from bidding or accepting leases or drilling in the disputed area.

Long will be inaugurated Tuesday, the same day the federal leasing was set.

Louisiana reaped a 13 million dollar bonus harvest at its April leasing, despite a protest by acting interior secretary Clarence Davis that six offshore tracts extended beyond the three mile limit accepted by federal officials.

The board ignored the protest and received top bids on several of the tracts.

Gordon Hill and Ronnie Shilton were hanged "as necessary reprisals" for the "murder" of Michael Karaolis and Andreas Demetriou. Britain executed the two rebels Thursday in Nicosia prison for shooting other Cypriots in the Eoka campaign to free the island from British rule and bring it under control of Greece.

The pamphlet threatened similar reprisals in the future. It said their bodies would not be turned over to the British, just as British authorities refused to hand over the bodies of Karaolis and Demetriou to their families.

A few hours after youngsters first appeared in the streets to distribute the Eoka pamphlets, gunfire sounded in Nicosia's Metaxas Square. A 13-year-old boy fell dead. Authorities said he did not halt when challenged and a sentry opened fire. Another boy escaped unhurt.

Violence flared elsewhere on the 120-mile long tadpole-shaped island which has become Britain's main Middle East base.

A bomb was tossed at a commando patrol near Ktima. A Greek Cypriot woman and another passerby were wounded when the bomb fell short.

A mine exploded in the Famagusta - Nicosia highway, damaging an army truck. No one was injured.

The island was visibly affected by both the executions of Karaolis and Demetriou and the reported reprisal deaths of Hill and Shilton. Official sources in London tended to the theory that both were dead. But officials on Cyprus, since they do not have the bodies for proof, clung to the theory that they still live.

The new regulations were made public in a bulletin of the Supreme Soviet dated April 25. A preamble said the measure was taken "as a result of the growth of conscientiousness in workers and the increase in their material well being, discipline in factories and institutions."

The degree revoked a law of Oct. 19, 1940, which permitted the state to transfer workers from one job to another, and other laws of 1951 and 1952 enacted to meet problems of agriculture. It annulled penalties previously imposed for leaving jobs without permission of authorities.

The degree stipulated, however, that workers who leave their jobs lose their rights to payment for temporary disability until they have been at the new jobs at least six months.

It was not clear whether the new decree would end the system under which university and institute graduates are sent to specified regions for specified terms—for example a journalist to a certain provincial newspaper for three years, or an tourist guide to a specified post for a term of two years.

The new decree follows a long series of Soviet moves eliminating the restrictions and excesses of the Stalin regime. It bears a direct relationship, for example, to the decree forbidding Soviet police to extort confessions by extralegal means.

Eastland presided as subcommittee chairman and McCarthy appeared as a witness for legislation which would nullify the effect of the court's April 2 decision, which was to suspend sedition laws in 42 states, Alaska and Hawaii.

In its 6-3 decision, the court set aside the conviction of Communist leader Steve Nelson, who had been prosecuted under a Pennsylvania sedition law. The court held the federal government sole jurisdiction in such cases when it passed the Smith Act and other laws.

9. When one considers the clue's reference to something "really bad" the word SEAT is more appropriate. In the case of MEAT, the word "really" is superfluous. MEAT needs to be only slightly bad to annoy a person. It need not be "really" bad which is, of course much worse. As for HEAT, you do not regularly speak of HEAT "annoying" a person. However, a SEAT in a theatre, for example, could be "really bad" for a variety of reasons and this fits the clue aptly. FEAT or PEAT are too vague.

10. CUT off best fits the clue word "angry." If the girl repeatedly PUTS him off he is more likely to become depressed or dejected than angry, since he is "lovesick." If the telephone system kept CUTTING him off he might get quite angry.

16. The clue suggests that this is something rather out of the normal run of things, making MARRY much more apt than CARRY. In a children's hospital, a nurse will frequently CARRY a patient. PARRY or HARRY are too remote.

19. He definitely expects to get a lot of work done in MAY. As for DAY there may be DAYS when he

The Soviet note said a frogman was sighted between two Soviet destroyers in Portsmouth harbor and then was seen diving near the side of the destroyer Smolayshchy.

The destroyers were escorting the cruiser Ordzhonikidze, on which the Soviet political leaders traveled to England.

The note said the incident was reported to the British admiralty, which categorically denied that there were any divers in the harbor at the time.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX —

- Ill-matched Sizes
- Husband Comes First
- Not So Shy!

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Pete and I are going steady and are very much in love. Our families are agreeable to our romance and everything seems perfect, except for one thing. We take a lot of kidding because of our ill-matched sizes. He's 6'2" and weighs 220 pounds, while I'm 5'4" and weigh 110 pounds. Mom, especially, seems against us on that score. Worried

DEAR WORRIED: "Opposites attract" is no idle phrase. The petite miss holds a special attraction for the big man, and the other way round. If Mom has nothing against the man but his 220 pounds, tell her to stop looking for trouble. Even if you married someone much slimmer, who's to guarantee that your good cooking wouldn't put him in the 200-pound class?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: After being married six months, my husband went into service and I returned to my mother. Though I am 21, I'm the baby of the family and mother still thinks of me as a child. My husband's basic training will be over soon and I want to join him at his permanent assignment. Mother, however, insists that I stay home until his service time is over. She says he has "no business taking me away." Carol

DEAR CAROL: Mother is so wrong. You not only have the privilege of going, it's your duty to be with your husband if it can possibly be managed. Of course, it's difficult for your mother to lose you, but such has been the role of mothers since the dawn of time.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a very shy high-school junior. I've had three boy friends in the last year. Fred was unreliable and wouldn't take me out. He'd come to see me occasionally but never made a definite date. Randy was next. He had been in reform school for several months, but was a well-mannered attentive boy. Then came Harry, who had a gorgeous car and smacked it up. He's known as a reckless driver. Now I am very fond of Carl, but Mom won't let me go out with him. Don't you think she should let me choose my own boy friends? Lynne

DEAR, DEAR LYNNE: For a shy girl, you certainly get around. I don't think you have sense enough to choose your own shoes, let alone boy friends. You certainly scraped the bottom of the barrel for the three choices you already made.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What's your remedy for a boy of 18 who tries to rule the home when his father is away on business trips? He's the last child of a large family, all of whom have married except one sister. He slaps his mother and swears at his sister. He's a very strong boy and we don't dare cross him. Ellen

DEAR ELLEN: It's certainly up to Dad to put the young man in his place. At least as comptroller of the purse strings, father should have some influence. As an added means of restraint, you might take up judo. The best way to subdue a bully is with a dose of his own medicine.

Economic Highlights

"The Fantastic Farm Mess" is the eye-catching title of an article by John Strohm in the April issue of The Reader's Digest. Mr. Strohm, who is a writer of long experience on agricultural subjects and a past president of the American Agricultural Editors' Association, describes the present situation in these words: "In a costly but futile attempt to support farm prices near the levels guaranteed to farmers during World War II, the U. S. Government has succeeded only in amassing an eighteen-billion-dollar hoard of food and fiber which can't be eaten, used, sold or given away. And as surpluses have skyrocketed, farm prices have bogged down. It's a grim example of what Government can do to you while trying to do something for you."

The farmers aren't to blame, in Mr. Strohm's view—they were led into the mess by government policies and they should have help getting out. A basic trouble is that so many false ideas about the farm program are now widely accepted as gospel. Mr. Strohm deals in a very direct and unequivocal fashion with some of these ideas—and here, in substance, is what he has to say.

One is that price supports rescued farmers from the depression. That's false—farm prices didn't start moving up until 1940 when impact of war and inflation set in.

Another is that a simple farm law can solve the problem. False again—for different kinds of farmers, in different places, all have different problems. Says Mr. Strohm: "Trying to write a 'farm law' to solve the 'farm problem' is as silly as treating all the sick with one health serum."

Still another is that high fixed farm prices mean high income. Also false—for the reason that volume of sales is a determining income factor as well as prices. Mr. Strohm observes: "You don't put more money in a farmer's pocket by boosting his price per bushel if you also cut his acreage. And any price-support program to be effective must include acreage controls."

Also, it is reasoned that government can restrict production by restricting acreage. The factual record over the years refutes that. The reason: "Farmers are not dummies. They take their poorest land out of production, fertilize heavily on the remainder, aim to grow more or less."

Mr. Strohm discusses many of the things that are wrong with farm legislation—including the fact that it is geared to the past. For example, our eating habits as a nation have changed. We eat far less starchy foods and far more meat and dairy products, among other things, than we used to. Our per capita wheat consumption has dropped drastically—but the support laws encourage maximum wheat production.

Finally, Mr. Strohm has praise for President Eisenhower's program, which includes vigorous efforts to increase overseas sale of surpluses; encouragement to farmers to produce for consumption instead of storage; the soil bank; more research designed to develop both new crops and new uses for old crops, and fewer controls, with government cooperation, not dictating. "This," Mr. Strohm says, "is a sound program for the farmer, and a fair one for the taxpayer. But it will take statesmanship of the highest order to resist the temptation to try to unravel the farm problem on the basis of political expediency."

From The Same Tree

A short time ago a 10-year-old California boy won the $100,000 jackpot on a TV quiz program.

This was a remarkable feat. What makes it still more remarkable is that the questions involved had to do with the stock market. They were tough questions too—it's a safe bet that not one adult in many thousands could have answered them correctly. As a fitting climax to the victory, the president of the New York Stock Exchange presented the young wizard with $2500 worth of stock of his own choosing, plus a monthly investment plan of $40 a month for five years.

There is a further significance in this. It is certainly not possible that many youngsters will become ranking authorities on all the procedures and complexities involved in corporation finance. But it is eminently desirable that great numbers of the adult-of-tomorrow learn the basic principles of finance in a free enterprise system—and learn too what stock exchanges do and why they are necessary. There are now something like 7.5 million shareholders in American corporate enterprise. It is estimated that, if our businesses are to grow as they should and in the manner they should, this number must be multiplied many times. And that means that tens of million more people must gain the necessary knowledge and interest.

Under political democracy, everyone has the right to vote. Under economic democracy, everyone has the right to invest in a business and become a partner. The two are branches of the same sturdy tree.

A Perpetual Farm Crop

With the dawning of this century, the forest industries faced the fact that well over half of the total area of U. S. commercial forest lands was held in tens of thousands of small individual ownerships averaging 60 to 70 acres each.

The problem was how to organize all of these individual forest properties into a coordinated system to insure wise management of the woodlands so that the country's forest resources could be preserved for the future under a "sustained yield" program.

An answer was provided in the American Tree Farm System sponsored nationally by the American Forest Industries Association, Inc. Inaugurated in 1940 as a single operation of 121,000 acres, in 10 years it had spread to 29 states embracing an acreage of over 22 million.

More and more woodland owners are recognizing the value of their timber stands and the importance of managing their woodlands for continuing timber crops. To become a tree farmer a property owner must have demonstrated the desire and ability to protect and manage his timberland. The system is sponsored and directed at the local level, and the program provides technical assistance and field demonstrations to show how farm woodlots can produce repeated cash crops.

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

The Gist Of The Problem

Everybody really prefers peace to war, particularly a war fought with atom and hydrogen bombs which can destroy the earth. The only argument about the bombs is how many it will take to destroy the earth and of what size? When the Russians or Adlai Stevenson or anyone else objects to hydrogen bomb testing, it is because the destructive capacity of a hydrogen bomb can be in its fall-out, and each one counts, whether it is used in warfare or as a test. Also there is no limit to the possible size of a hydrogen bomb. What that could mean is that hypothetically one bomb could be made large enough to destroy the world.

Facing that, everybody is for peace. Certainly President Eisenhower is as much for peace as Party Secretary Khrushchev is for peace. The difference, however, is that Khrushchev demands that the United States make all the concessions so that they favor Soviet Russia, whereas Eisenhower insists on a general rule with special privileges for none. If the hydrogen bomb is to be abolished as a weapon of war, there must be universal inspection not only of stockpiles and manufacturing plants but also of the sources of raw materials. There must be constant and publicly-available reports and there must be a method for control of all operations. In this situation it is not sound to trust any country.

The Russians have made great strides in empire building and in creating a modern industry since 1939 when they went to war. But for them war now is especially dangerous because they require time to consolidate their gains, to justify the enormous sacrifices of the Russian and satellite peoples by raising their standards of living, and to strengthen the regime that has taken over the party and the government since Stalin died.

In a broadcast from Moscow in English, this is made perfectly clear: "The Soviet Union is vitally interested in peace because without it our plans for economic and cultural development are not feasible. We Soviet men and women would like to see the efforts and funds now being expended on defense used for improving the living conditions of the peoples."

Then this broadcast went on to say: "We could be enjoying the highest living standard in the world today were it not for the funds and efforts we had to expend in repulsing the aggressors and invaders throughout the existence of Soviet power. Our chief goal on the home scene is to extend these various living standards, and that is why on the international scene we follow a policy of nonaggression, of constantly working for peace..."

It is interesting that a broadcast from Moscow should be so urgent, so clear-cut, in this particular respect. The visit to Great Britain of Khrushchev and Bulganin it was hoped would reduce "world tension," when, as a matter of fact, there need not have been any world tensions had it not been, since 1943 (Teheran), Russian policy to build a world empire on the skeleton of the collapsing empires of the Western European countries.

The new regime may say and it undoubtedly does say that suspicions of their motives are based on the conduct and decisions of Stalin who is dead. They are willing to accept all the gains that Stalin made for them but none of the disadvantages of Stalinism. Were these men new to the Kremlin, perhaps a revolutionary group who had overthrown Stalin, there could be some justice to their plea. But these men were Stalin's assistants who carried out his orders and helped him in all his tortuous enterprises. It is impossible to regard them as other than Stalin's assistants now risen to his former powers. It is therefore impossible to remove from them the aura of suspicion that encircles them, and what is more Khrushchev proved that this general attitude is correct whenever he lost his temper in Great Britain.

True, nobody wants war, least of all the American people who have lost much and gained nothing in two wars. But also, the American people cannot be caught agreeing to all of Khrushchev's propositions without checks and controls and then find that while they have lessened their defenses, the Russian has strengthened his aggressive powers. We may be dumb, but not that dumb.

Lights Over Broadway

Irving Berlin (who could get RCA, MGM, Fox and other "Angels" to put up the money) will be the only backer of his musical, "Sentimental Guy."

This is the song-and-dance based on "The Legend of Mizner" which S. N. Behrman adapted. Jose Ferrer may be the star. Berlin has always been contemptuous of the technique used to audition backers. When Sam H. Harris was his partner (for their shows at the Music Box) they never went to outsiders for coin. Eileen Barton invades the legit (in Summer Stock) via "Dear Barbarians." Grace Kelly played it on her climb to the heights. "Gretchen Wyler, who joined the 'Silk Stockings' cast (just before the premiere) is now featured over the title on tour."

Kitty Carlisle starring in the revived "Kiss Me Kate" (at the City Center) receives $5 per week. All stars get that fee there. She pays her maid $75 and wears an $800 Valentino creation. "Broadway's Big Tee-Hee: The Town & Country night spots advertisements: 'Spend Mother's Day with Martha Raye!'"

Dr. Kinsey has been in our feverish midst all week. He is a good story about a year ago (at the suggestion of friends) Polly Adler (the one-time Madam) who put her history in the best-seller, "A House Is Not A Home," wrote Kinsey asking if he would write the "forward" to her book. Later, she was chagrined to find she had misspelled the word "Kinsey" (always the Gentleman) replied warmly and misspelled "forward," too. This endeared him to her and their friendship bloomed. Kinsey also enjoys reporting that he got into many European brothels which barred her!

Broadway's newest amazement is Ray Ellis, the arranger-conductor.

For Years To Come

ON ANY kind of calendar... The dates are far too few... Indeed not all the calendars... Of all the years to be... Could hold sufficient weeks and months... To have you close to me... I well remember, darling, from... The moment when we met... Each time the dawn appeared I wished... The sun would never set... My only comfort was the hope... For yet another day... When we could be together with... The thoughts we longed to say... So now I hope with all my heart... And with my fervent prayer... May there be countless calendars... For you and me to share.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Every day is Mother's Day, including the nights, so if one day off-duty is afforded her, she will appreciate it deeply. Just to be freed of the daily routine would be wonderful gift for her. Not to be bothered about the whereabouts of Dad's blue shirt or Sister's sweater, not to have to plan breakfast and supper for a whole day—what bliss! Just to be free to sit and smile at her children, to eat a meal she has not planned and cooked, just to enjoy her family—that would be.

When the children are small, someone, usually Dad, must take over as far as possible. A drive to some outlying restaurant is a great treat and if there is someone to take care of the small children so they need not be taken along, that adds to the glamour of the occasion. A free day seasoned with family affection is about ideal for Her Day.

When the children have grown up and are far from home, a telegram, a telephone message, best of all a long letter, can be a happy surprise. When at all possible, a visit, a gathering of the whole family, is about the best gift a mother can have—providing, of course, that the work does not fall on her shoulders. Mother is to enjoy a real holiday from the routine tasks of housekeeping.

There must be gifts, of course. Do let them be on the luxury side. By luxury is meant something out of the ordinary, like a fine plant, a bit of jewelry that Mother has longed for but did not dare to buy. It may be a book that she wanted but could not see her way to buy. Maybe it is a record of some fine music that she longed to own. Something, in short, that Mother would like to have but could not or would not buy for herself.

You see, mothers are schooled to self-denial. They give up their time, their tastes, their wants, and merge themselves with their families and unless the family become aware of this, her days are days of duty. Mother's Day gives her children a chance to return some of the affection, even some of the self-denial, if they will.

Some curmudgeons grumble that Mother's Day is just another commercial stunt to boost business. The best that business gets is just a side product of a beautiful thought and is not to be grudging. The shops offer fine service for this Day and they are to be approved for it accordingly. So here's to Mother's Day. Bring on the flowers and the letters and the grandchildren, and make it a wonderful day for Her. And make sure she does none of the work involved. It's her one holiday.

Learning to spell is difficult for some children. How you can give your child help in spelling at home is outlined by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P-30, "Aid for Poor Spellers." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

This will be a lavish holiday. Last season he brought in a hit, "The Shoestring Revue," for $15,000. "Straight From The Shoulder," Steve Clayton's new Jubilee platter, sounds like it will make it. Marty Green, who played the Admiral in "Pinafore" 2500 times, signed for tv's "I Spy." Wanted a change of pace. His first role: An Admiral. In his new book, "America, I Like You," author P. G. Wodehouse describes his first impression of Our Town: "Being there was like being in heaven without going to all the burl and expense of dying." But Lancaster and Harold Hecht will not use Paris for the "Trapeze" premiere. They'll fly European critics to B'way.

IN WASHINGTON

Demo Party Nominee

The Texas victory of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson to lead his state delegation to the Democratic National convention serves to accentuate the unpredictable factors which will figure in the choice of the nominee of the Democratic party for President.

For one thing, it makes the outcome even more uncertain to a point where even the veterans won't venture a guess. Which of the likely candidates, among whom Senator Johnson must now be included, would have the best chance to defeat President Eisenhower?

The expressions of Democratic members of Congress, national committeemen and state governors are so conflicting that attempts to poll them are productive of no sound conclusions.

In a congressional poll, Adlai E. Stevenson seems to be running ahead. There is, however, not much enthusiasm for the former Illinois governor. To find a precedent for this situation, Democratic historians must go back to 1908, when William Jennings Bryan was still a power in his party, strong enough to be nominated for the Presidency a third time, but with scant hope that he would defeat William Howard Taft, the choice of President Theodore Roosevelt.

Bryan still held a "hard core" support which had followed him through two unsuccessful campaigns, against William McKinley in 1896 and 1900. But there was a strong element in the party which swung to the Republican nominee in each of Bryan's three campaigns. Bryan depended heavily on the solid South but in 1908, the breakaway began, with Taft carrying Maryland and Missouri, and winning by 321 electoral votes to 162. Eisenhower's 1952 margin over Stevenson was 442 to 89.

That may sound like ancient history, but it has some bearing on the prospects of the next Democratic nominee. Eisenhower has already cracked the solid South against Stevenson in his first election and could do so again this year, according to early polls.

Senator Estes Kefauver has done well in picking up delegates on his own, but still has less support in Congress, according to a poll by the Congressional Quarterly, than Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, a definite dark horse. Congress however does not nominate the candidate for President, though some of its members play an important part in the selection.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Frank refused to let his child attend Sunday school for Frank says he didn't want to prejudice the boy. But that very parental domination by Frank has prejudiced the boy against the best element in modern society. Did the pagans or the church people give us our colleges and hospitals and Red Cross, Salvation Army and Boy Scouts?

Case R-354: Frank F., aged about 55, sent me a pamphlet in which he explained to his son why he had never let the boy enjoy Christian instruction in a church. "I have attempted to prevent your being coerced by adult opinion; was the general idea in this pamphlet."

"Now that you are 21, however, and an adult, I leave it up to you whether or not you should attend a church."

"But I didn't want to be guilty of prejudicing your scientific mind in its earlier years, so I have kept you away from churches till now."

Should a parent deprive his child of the Salk vaccine against polio till the youngster was 21 and old enough to decide for himself? Should he keep his baby away from physicians till he was 21 and only then let him learn about the merits of inoculation against diphtheria or smallpox?

Actually, if a parent compels his youngsters to stay away from contact with unselfish moral teachers who donate their time in the Sunday schools, isn't that a form of adult prejudice which he is imposing on those youngsters?

Before a child can decide whether he wants to go to Sunday school, he should be permitted to "taste" church life. And don't wait till he is 21 years of age to give him your parental "O.K." on so doing.

"Man does not live by bread alone," states the Great Physician on whom the Christian churches of all denominations are founded. That means that spiritual nurture and ethical ideals are vital to the development of the well integrated personality.

It would obviously be unwise for a parent to deprive his baby of protein until the age of 21.

"If I gave him protein before he was an adult," I would be prejudicing him," Frank might argue with equal justification.

It is the solemn duty of all good parents to analyze those forces in modern life which, to the best of the parents' judgment, produce good.

This includes foods and medicines and education both secular as well as religious.

Then such parents should nurture their children on such personality so that by the age of 21, their youngsters are self-reliant.

We dare not keep children away from schools till 21. And the same is equally true of Sunday school or moral agencies like the YMCA, U. C. Y. O., Salvation Army, etc.

It is true enough that modern churches retain antiquated rituals that is illogical and out-of-date. But so do our law codes, which lag 25 to 50 years behind times, yet we don't urge children to ignore the laws.

The typical modern church emphasizes brotherhood of mankind. It tries to teach children to consider, unselfish and friendly, instead of tactless, selfish and spiteful.

Generous men and women (nate their time each Sabbath) take your toddlers and start spiriting their minds to no attainment.

Other altruistic souls contribute money for buildings and heat such church gatherings. They of these moral aids FREE.

Parents whose personal bias based on maybe too heavy a dose of old-fashioned theology, make them hostile to modern church should visit a neighboring Sunday school for a few weeks just neutral observers.

Good news from State Farm Mutual
"the careful driver insurance company"

New! Low-cost auto insurance plan

Lowest renewal rates available to the general public in Louisiana...
25% lower than the rates charged by most other companies.

Thanks to a recent ruling by Louisiana officials, State Farm Mutual auto insurance is now an even better buy.

NEW LOW RATES:

In recognition of its streamlined, money-saving operating methods, State Farm Mutual is now permitted to sell auto insurance to its present members at 25% less than the rates fixed for most other companies by the State. And this 25% saving is pocketed by members in advance. It is not paid afterwards in the form of a dividend.

For present members, these new rates become effective with their first renewal after May 13, 1956.

NEW MEMBERSHIP FEE:

This is a slightly higher premium paid once only by new members for their first 6 months of insurance. This membership fee helps make low rates possible. It covers sales cost, such as sales commission and other sales costs of putting a new member's name on the books. It's charged once and only once—the first time you take out a coverage.

Present State Farm members are not required to pay membership fees for coverages they now carry.

Stock Market Closes Steady And Unchanged

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—The stock market built up strong resistance to a decline today, on the heels of yesterday's sharp fall, and managed to close with a steady tone.

Prices were mixed over a range of around 2 points either way with most major divisions showing a wide mixture of gains and losses. Yesterday's market suffered one of the year's greatest drops, and the decline continued today at the opening. Overnight orders were to sell, and buyers took in the offerings at reduced prices.

Timid holders soon disposed of their stock, however, and prices began to mount as resistance to selling increased. In the late afternoon the market was slightly higher on balance, but final selling put prices back below their best.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at $187.00 after having been down 50 cents at noon. It lost $2.50 yesterday, second most severe decline of the year.

The mixed nature of the situation was shown by the advance of 30 cents in the industrial component, a decline of 20 cents in the rails, and a gain of 10 cents in utilities.

Volume amounted to 450,000 shares as compared with 2,850,000 shares traded yesterday.

Council To Back Talks In North On Race Question

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 11 (AP)—Plans to send speakers through the north to explain southern views on racial segregation were announced today by Dr. John H. Whitley, chairman of the Citizens Councils of Alabama.

The councils are organizations of white men set up in several Southern states to preserve segregation through legal means.

Whitley said among speakers who may be called upon are Rep. Charles W. McKay Jr., Talladega, newly elected Alabama Democratic national committeeman and State Sen. Albert Boutwell of Birmingham.

McKay defeated Gov. James E. Folsom for the key party post. The 35-year-old legislator was author of the interposition resolution which the legislature adopted, interposing authority of the state between enforcement of federal integration decrees and the people of Alabama.

A new Citizens Council rally has been called at Birmingham next Thursday, on the anniversary of the U. S. Supreme Court decree outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

McKay is to be one of the speakers. Mississippi Judge Tom Brady has been asked to speak, and said he will do so if he can arrive in time from a Texas engagement.

Oklahoma May Back Harriman

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11 (AP)—A majority of Oklahoma's delegation to the Democratic National Convention would vote for New York Gov. Averell Harriman for the presidential nomination if the vote were taken now, Gov. Raymond Gary predicted today.

Gary, chairman of the delegation, is considered as favorable to Harriman although he has declined to commit himself.

Gary also predicted the Oklahoma delegation will not go for Adlai Stevenson, 1952 nominee, on the first ballot. The governor again declared he will not be a favorite son candidate.

Ask Government For Adjustment In Oil Imports

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — The government was asked today what actions will be taken to adjust petroleum imports within the limits recognized by both the executive and legislative branches "as necessary to defense."

Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum

Assn. of America wrote Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming that the association recognizes "sincere efforts have been made by your office to bring oil imports within the limits set by government policy."

But, his letter said, "the time has come for positive action to make the policy effective in the public interest."

Negro Division Completes Goal In Cancer Drive

George M. Rorex, Ouachita Parish Cancer Crusade chairman, has announced the successful completion of the Cancer Drive by the colored division. He said that the amount collected by the colored workers amounts to 10 per cent of the total funds collected to date in the parish, and that they completed their work before the conclusion of the parish drive which still is receiving gifts and neighbor-to-neighbor envelopes from various sections of the "Twin Cities."

Rorex, in congratulating the colored workers in the name of the Ouachita Parish Cancer Unit, said that special appreciation goes to the various chairmen and their loyal workers for an outstanding job of well planned work.

Among the leaders are: Mrs. R. Bose, chairman of the colored division; Mrs. H. McClanahan, treasurer; A. V. Turner, publicity; B. D. Robinson; schools, Dr. R. O. Pierce, professions; A. H. Bowie, business; Rev. B. J. Washington, churches; and the many area leaders and workers who supported this life-saving crusade.

As evidence that the colored people of the state participate in the life-saving educational crusade as well as in fund raising, Mr. Rorex said that it is noted in statistics published by the Department of Health for 1954 that the death rate from cancer per 100,000 population is less than half the rate for theory "has been overturned" by the Supreme Court in every other field and also perhaps in transportation.

Carter didn't argue that the Supreme Court decided the segregation issue last month but he said there is room for doubt.

It was at that point that Rives, presiding over the hearing, said that in his opinion the Supreme Court hasn't decided the issue, and Lynne added, "that's my opinion, too."

The Supreme Court on April 23 dismissed an appeal from the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a case involving city buses in Columbia, S. C.

The Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., had held bus segregation unconstitutional and had sent the case back to District Court at Columbia, where it originated, to determine the question of damages.

City attorneys also resisted the attack on segregation laws in federal court with a persistent effort to show that complaining Negroes were willing to live under them until recent weeks.

white population both in the state generally and in Ouachita Parish. In Ouachita Parish in 1954 there were 78 deaths from cancer among the white population and a rate of 67.3 as compared to 38 non-white with the rate of 32.8 per 100,000. This is statistical evidence that this year's Crusade slogan is based on fact: "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check."

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Cotton futures closed $1.60 a bale higher
to 45 cents lower today.

Strength in old crop July futures
was the dominant feature. July will become the spot trading month on Monday after nearby
May contracts expire. The fact that there has been little liquidating pressure on May and the sharp discount of July under May futures attracted buying to the
July contract.

Gains in that month extended to $1.80 a bale before profit taking and spot house selling pared part of the advance.

New crop months were firm in earlier dealings, with spot house
buying of October and December aggressive. Profit taking and heaving caused those deliveries to sag toward the close.

There were 20 May transferable
notices issued at New York and
they appeared to be promptly stopped. A leading spot firm liquidated more than 10,000 bales of nearby May futures, according to ring estimates. The May open interest at the start today was down to 46,800 bales.

An Agriculture Department
spokesman indicated that the
C.C.C. will soon take bids weekly for export cotton instead of every two weeks.

Cotton
Letter

Nearly all of the action was in the old July. Active short covering accompanied by professional buying and some mill purchasing caused that month to close a dollar and a half a bale higher. Perhaps a statement by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture to the effect

the CCC did not intend to lower
its selling prices on surplus cotton below 27.50 basis middling 15-16
inch was a major bullish factor.
Part of the professional buying was attributed to the fact that the
May contract expires next Monday and July could assume it's strong position. At this writing there is no obvious indication, however, of any major firm wanting to support that month. Despite additional buying by the large spot firm in new crop months most of them closed slightly lower on weekend profit taking and a little hedg-

ing. Liverpool was strong being unchanged to up 67 cent points on the belief the sales prices on
CCC cotton will not be lowered.
The CCC will announce at 5 p.m.
central standard time today the quantity of cotton sold on their second sale held this week.
The farm bill will reach the senate for a vote next week. The senate committee attached an amendment calling for the CCC to limit the price on export cotton to that level at which the first million bales were sold plus carrying charges.

Utah Riflemen Execute Killers At State Prison

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah, May 11 —UP— Two young killers from the Midwest were executed by a firing squad here Friday with a final public plea for others to profit by their tragic mistake.

Verne A. Braasch, 27, Reinbeck, Iowa, and Melvin L. Sullivan, 25, Kansas City, Kan., were shot at 6:15 a.m. CST by a double firing squad of 10 volunteer riflemen. A few hours before their execution the doomed men issued a public statement pleading that "our tragic lives and endings serve as a warning to all — young and old."

They were shot to death for the brutal murder of Howard Manzone, 21, a gas station attendant at Beaver, Utah, during a holdup in October, 1949. It was the first double execution in Utah in 102 years and ended a six and one-half year court battle for their lives. The case surged as high as the U.S. Supreme Court three times on grounds the men's constitutional rights were violated. But it was turned down each time.

For their execution Braasch and Sullivan were shrouded in black hoods that reached almost to their waists. They died strapped in sturdy office chairs inside a three-sided stagelike shelter illuminated by spotlights. One of the witnesses at the execution was Joseph A. Manzone, father of the man Braasch and Sullivan murdered.

enfold with the passage of a few years. A the same meeting Thursday night, Monroe Civilians were shocked to hear, as guest of the occasion, P.L. Foreman, popularly known as "Buddy," announce that he has been assigned to a new post with the local telephone company. He is to remove to Winnboro and to assume charge of phone systems in that vicinity to the number of ten or more.

This will require that he relinquish his home here and give up his post as Civitan president. Also he was recently elected area lieutenant governor. "Buddy" has served as a pillar of strength in the West Monroe Civitan club and his removal will be cause of unusual regrets. The only pleasant feature of the change is the fact that he will step up a peg higher with his company.

Seems like there is a sort of epidemic of service club foundations. The latest is the announcement that there is to be a Northside club. The new group is to meet at the Antler's, located near the end of Louisville avenue. Sessions are set for Mondays at 6:50 p.m. Harry Bell is president, Jack Armstrong, vice-president; Tom Mulhearn is treasurer, and Will Smith, secretary.

Miss. Crackdown On Whiskey Nets 2 Stills, Liquor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mississippi's highway patrol, under governor's orders to crack down on illegal whiskey shipments, broke up two moonshine stills and hundreds of gallons of untaxed whiskey Thursday night and Friday morning.

Patrolmen Jack Anderson and Merrill Pickering, working with county and federal officers near Laurel, seized a truck carrying a still.

They arrested Horace G. Twitty, 38, of Hume, Tenn., and said he refused to reveal his destination with the 400-gallon still.

Two other patrolmen, Bobby Taylor and Asst. Inspector W. E. Jacobs, confiscated 134 gallons of moonshine and several pieces of still equipment during four hours of routine traffic work just north of Gulfport.

The Laurel seizure was the result of painstaking work on the part of all officers involved. They had received a tip that the huge still was scheduled for shipment and had staked out patrol cars on all back roads to intercept the truck.

Officers spotted a speeding truck on a back road and halted it. While they were examining the contents, Twitty leaped from the cab and fled.

Two lawmen caught him after a 300-yard footrace. The still was displayed on the Laurel courthouse lawn. Also confiscated were two 400-gallon cooling vats, a 10-gallon copper still, two 50-gallon mash barrels, a 250-gallon hoghead, hundreds of coke and charcoal.

At Gulfport, patrolmen stopped a truck operating without a license tag and found parts of a still in the rear. They arrested Tom Hinton, 24, of Sauter.

Earlier, at Sauter, alcohol tax unit officers had destroyed a 600-gallon still and 130 gallons of whiskey. They believed the parts confiscated from Hinton were part of the same operation.

After the two officers returned from jailing Hinton to their post on U.S. Highway 49, they arrested Woodrow Bush, 43, of North Gulfport for speeding and found 14 gallons of illegal whiskey in his automobile.

They jailed him and returned to their post. A few hours later, they stopped Henry Davis, of Mobile, Ala., for running a stop sign and found 120 gallons of moonshine in his car.

The whiskey was destroyed and the still equipment turned over to the federal alcohol tax unit.

Charges will be filed later.

Reds Demand Explanation Of Diver Episode

Britain Disclaims Responsibility For Frogman's Mission

LONDON, May 11 (UP)—Moscow radio Friday night revealed that Russia sent a formal demand to Britain to explain the presence of a British "frogman" near a visiting Soviet warship in Portsmouth harbor last month.

British officials replied that the diver had no orders to work in the area of the ship, the broadcast said.

It was the first report of diplomatic exchanges between Soviet authorities and Britain on the mysterious disappearance of underwater expert Lionel (Buster) Crabb.

Crabb, decorated by Britain for heroism in World War II, was reported missing while conducting underwater tests in the vicinity of anchored Russian ships.

Moscow radio said a Soviet note asked for an explanation of Crabb's activities. It said the British foreign office replied that the frogman was near the Russian ship, he had no business there.

Earlier, the Soviet press accused Britain of engaging in "shameful underwater espionage" against the cruiser that took the two top Soviet leaders to Britain last month.

The Soviet note said it was revealed that a diver was working on secret tests in the harbor and (Continued On Second Page)

Truman Demands 'No Compromise' On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Former President Truman today summoned "liberals" to do battle with the Eisenhower administration.

He said the administration is "preparing for us another election campaign of high-level presidential smiles and low-level vice presidential sneers."

In a letter to the ninth annual convention of Americans for Democratic Action, advocate of "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" policies, Truman accused the GOP of three years of "concealment and complacency."

He said the "job of the liberals is to bring the real issues out from behind the smoke screen and help all the people to reach an informed opinion."

Truman's letter was made public at a news conference at which ADA Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr. said ADA will urge that both major parties in their platforms make an "unequivocal pledge to support the Supreme Court decision on desegregation."

Civil rights, mentioned by both Truman and Rauh, will occupy an important place in the deliberations of the three-ADA convention, Rauh said.

"If either party compromises this issue," the Democrats in an attempt to maintain unity with the Dixiecrats and the Republicans in a search for Dixiecrat votes—it will lose not only the Negro vote but the support of the white South. (Continued On Second Page)

Britain, France To Sell More Arms To Israel Defense

LONDON, May 11 (UP)—Britain and France soon will step up shipments of defensive weapons to Israel with the approval of the United States, authoritative sources said Friday.

The informants said the shipments will be on "a moderate scale" and will be carried out in close co-ordination among the Big Three Western powers in line with their tripartite declaration of 1950.

There will be no appreciable increase in arms shipments by the United States, the sources said. This policy is intended to avert the possibility of a "reprisal" step up of Communist arms deliveries to the Arab nations, they said.

The official Western view is that new shipments of "non-American" defensive weapons would not provide the Soviets with a valid reason to unleash an arms race in the still explosive Middle East.

The informants said Britain is expected to begin shipments "in the very near future." They will consist mostly of ground weapons and anti-aircraft guns.

NO DEATHS IN FREAK ACCIDENT—No deaths resulted from a freak accident involving the two cars above when the car in the background attempted to pass the other about 12 miles southeast of Monroe on Highway 15 about 2:45 p.m. Friday. Hospitalized in Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. Preston D. Shivers, 43 and 39 respectively, of Route One, Delhi. Both husband and wife received bruises, and Preston was reported at the hospital to have also suffered lacerations on the forehead, multiple contusions, possible internal injuries and broken ribs. Treated at the hospital and released were Lonnie Lee Parker, 38, also of Delhi, and Henry H. Steadman, 57, of 309 North Seventh, West Monroe, driver of the passing car (foreground). Steadman's front bumper reportedly caught on the rear bumper of the car shown here as partly in the water, and both automobiles ended up on the side of the road in Lafourche swamp. (Photo by C. E. Supreme Court Under Fire From Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—The Supreme Court came under sharp attack at a Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearing today for its ruling that the federal government has sole jurisdiction in sedition cases.

The decision handed down April 2, had the effect of upsetting state laws against subversion.

Sens. Eastland (D-Miss) and McCarthy (R-Wis) criticized the Supreme Court as "politicians instead of lawyers." McCarthy said, "They don't understand what they are doing."

McCarthy singled out Chief Justice Earl Warren for attack, saying: "We made a mistake in confirming as chief justice a man who had no judicial experience and very little legal experience. . . . His only experience is as a politician."

Eastland, who has denounced the court repeatedly for its ruling against segregation in the public schools, said: (Continued On Second Page)

Gunman Escapes After Futile Try At Robbing Bank

NEW ORLEANS, May 11 (UP)—A well dressed middle-aged gunman lost his nerve in an attempted bank robbery today when the quick-thinking teller dropped to the floor.

The gunman walked into the Mid City Branch of the Hibernia Bank and Trust Co., about 1:20 p.m. and handed a note demanding money to teller Fred Zimmerman, 29.

The note said: "This is a stick-up. Start with big bills. First try to get normal and don't give away or I'll kill you."

Zimmerman said the man opened his coat and reached for a gun.

The teller dropped to the floor and the man fled, dropping his empty money bag along the way.

The bandit fled in a car apparently driven by an accomplice. The car believed by police to have been stolen, was later found abandoned.

The same bank was robbed of $114,600 on Jan. 9, 1948 by five men, marking the biggest robbery in the history of the city. All five were caught and sentenced.

GREENVILLE, Miss., May 11 (UP)—The Mississippi Gun Collectors Assn. will hold its quarterly meeting here tomorrow and Sunday with collectors from Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Alabama attending.

Collectors will stage a public exhibition of their prized weapons Sunday afternoon.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 11 (UP)—A blind University of Tennessee student pleaded guilty in criminal court today to a drunken driving charge and received a $100 fine and 60-day jail term, both suspended.

Edgar Lee Edens of Knoxville told Judge J. Fred Bibb he was "operating the gear, brakes and clutch" and another student, unidentified, was "putting the gas" to the car when he was arrested in May, 1955.

ATLANTA, May 11 (UP)—Department store sales in the Sixth Federal Reserve District wound up last week six per cent below the comparable week of 1955.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta reported today figures from key cities were mostly minus. Sales were down 7 per cent at New Orleans.

Reds Announce Workers No Longer Bound To Jobs By Law In Soviet Union

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today Soviet workers no longer will be bound to their jobs by law.

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) revoked a series of laws dating as far back as 1940, thereby ending prosecutions of workers who leave their jobs without permission. The announcement said workers who now want to leave their jobs can do so by providing two weeks' notice.

Directors of factories and institutions retain, however, the power to fine workers for unjustified absences or to dismiss them. The dismissal still will be entered in the workers' labor book—a sort of passport all workers in the Soviet Union must carry. Such notations remain black marks against the workers.

Fathers' March On Cerebral Palsy Collects $2,000

About $2,000 was collected by volunteers in the two-hour "Fathers' March on Cerebral Palsy" in Monroe and West Monroe Friday night, according to committee chairman J. Dodd Brooks.

James W. Parkerson, committee member, said at 10 p.m. that over $1,500 was accounted for and that the total was expected to be over $2,000.

Brooks expressed the committee's thanks and appreciation to all those participating in the door-to-door solicitations for funds to fight Cerebral Palsy.

Money donated last night will be used for furtherance of the Cerebral Palsy school at Selman Field, now two and a half years old and consisting of 30 students and 10 teachers and therapists.

Brooks said last night that if anyone desires to make donations but was missed in the two-hour canvass period, they are asked to mail them to United Cerebral Palsy Association, P. O. Box 1305, Monroe, La.

Cypriots Say Pair Hanged In Reprisal

Missing British Soldiers Claimed Victims Of Rebels

NICOSIA, Cyprus, May 11 (UP)—The pro-Greek underground proclaimed in a flood of leaflets Friday that it had hanged two British soldiers in an eye-for-an-eye reprisal for the execution of two partisans. The British doubted it.

Nevertheless, British tempers flared. Troops cracked down against any semblance of disorder. One 13-year-old son of a Cypriot policeman was shot dead in the main square of Nicosia while passing out the pamphlets that claimed two corporals were executed for the hanging of two Cypriot gunmen for murder.

Governor-General Sir John Harding indicated that he did not believe the Eoka underground claim. An official government statement said the leaflets contained inaccuracies, and that there never has been "the slightest evidence" that Eoka captured the two corporals.

The leaflets signed by the mysterious underground leader "Digenis," are "patently an attempt to make propaganda capital from the fact that the two men are known to be missing," Harding said.

The leaflets, printed in English, spurred the hunt for the Eoka leader who goes only by the name "Digenis," but he is believed to be a British-trained Greek colonel named George Grivas. Little is known about him.

George Blames Tough Opposition For Retirement

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Sen. Walter F. George said Friday he reluctantly decided to retire from politics because of the vigorous challenge facing him for his Senate seat by former Gov. Herman Talmadge.

In a statement addressed to "the people of Georgia," the 78-year-old dean of the Senate said he had expected "unanimous approval and undivided support" which would make a re-election campaign unnecessary.

He said it then became apparent he would have to wage "a rigorous campaign in the extreme summer heat."

On the advice of his physician and out of a desire to give his friends "freedom of political action," he decided to withdraw, he said.

Talmadge, who had made clear he would contest George for his Senate seat, formally announced his candidacy immediately after George withdrew.

George, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, has been offered a post by President Eisenhower as special ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Without mentioning Talmadge by name, George contrasted his experience and influence with that of a newcomer to the Senate who would have to offer.

"My willingness to continue to serve was not to gratify any personal ambition," he said. "It is due to the importance of retaining the influence and power of committee chairmanships of the Congress to Georgia and the South."

$450 Crossword Jackpot Untapped As Thousands Of Entries Received

By BONAZA BILL

The $450 jackpot offered in the Morning World's crossword puzzle competition this week, came through untouched, as thousands of entries avalanched on judges, but failed to provide the correct answers.

The puzzle which will be published next Monday and Tuesday in the Morning World will carry a jackpot valued at $475. Old Bonanza Bill's hoping that someone will draw a bead on the right answers so we can write a check next week.

Here is an explanation of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzle:

CLUES ACROSS:

2. PICK is a satisfactory answer. In order to PACK it with talent, there must be a lot of talent available, which may not be the case.

6. "Natural" to go elsewhere if, it's DULL, yes but you HAVE to go elsewhere if it's FULL, since there's no room for you in a (truly) FULL club. In other words, the expression "it's natural" (Continued On Second Page)

U. S. Studies Action In Tidelands Lease Case As Injunction Blocks Sale

LAKE CHARLES, La., May 11 (AP)—Louisiana, in a bold bid to bulwark its claim to oil-rich areas in the Gulf of Mexico, today used a court order to block a federal leasing scheduled Tuesday.

State District Judge Mark C. Pickrel granted a temporary injunction against federal leasing of land inside the three league (10 1/2 mile) boundary claimed by the state.

The judge set a hearing for a preliminary injunction May 16. Louisiana's outgoing Atty. Gen. Fred LeBlanc and incoming Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion jointly requested the court order.

They accused two federal officials of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management and 25 oil companies of conspiracy to trespass on approximately 355,000 acres of Louisiana waterbottoms in the Gulf of Mexico.

The bureau, part of the U. S. Interior Department, asked for bids May 15 at New Orleans on more than 500,000 acres, all but 23,000 off the Louisiana Coast.

(In Washington, the Interior Department said it was asking the Justice Department to take appropriate action so that it could go ahead with the leaseings as scheduled. The Justice Department said it had asked that the papers in the case, including the order, be (Continued On Second Page)

LSU To Dismiss Student Leaders Of Campus Raids

BATON ROUGE, May 11 (UP)—Troy Middleton, president of Louisiana State University said today any student implicated in recent party raids would be dismissed.

"Students found to be responsible for organizing and leading these childish outbreaks do not deserve the privilege of attending LSU," Middleton said. "They will be dismissed."

Dean of Men Arden French said individual cases were under investigation and indicated the LSU disciplinary board would not meet until next week.

None of the raiders succeeded in getting any panties in raids Wednesday night and Thursday night.

In the opening raid this week, an estimated 600 men students swarmed around the women's dormitories where they were heckled by scantily-clad co-eds on balconies.

Police used tear gas in breaking up the raid but as the men were turned back they began throwing rocks, bricks and clods of dirt at the police.

Twenty-nine LSU students and 13 high school students were picked up by police, questioned and then released.

Another raid was attempted last night and police again used tear gas to disperse the students. The raiders moved to the LSU campus security office and smashed its windows. Loudspeakers threatened martial law on the campus.

The combined forces of state, city and parish law officers finally restored order.

Only 'Token' Contribution In War Seen

Air Chief Differs Sharply With Ike And Sec'y. Wilson

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, told Congress Friday that carrier-based Navy planes could make only a "small" contribution in any strategic air war with Russia.

His statement appeared to put him at odds with President Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. Both have cited the role of carrier-borne naval aircraft in replying to Democratic charges that the administration is slighting the long-range bomber program.

Appearing before a Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee, Twining was asked by Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) about the relative strategic capabilities of the Air Force's land-based bombers and the Navy's carrier-based aircraft.

"We must be realistic about such factors as the probable location of the carriers, as well as the amount of striking power they could contribute, which is small," he replied.

Choosing his words carefully, Twining also said he believes Mr. Eisenhower's defense budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 is strong enough to deter an enemy attack "this year." But he emphasized that more money and weapons will be needed next year.

At his news conference last Friday, Mr. Eisenhower was asked about Democratic charges that the United States was lagging behind Russia in production of B-52 intercontinental hydrogen bombers.

CAA Clears Up Meaning Of Funds Ban On Airports

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—Civil Aeronautics Administrator Charles Lowen Jr. said today a CAA policy statement issued last month "is not intended in any way to force integration" of races at airports.

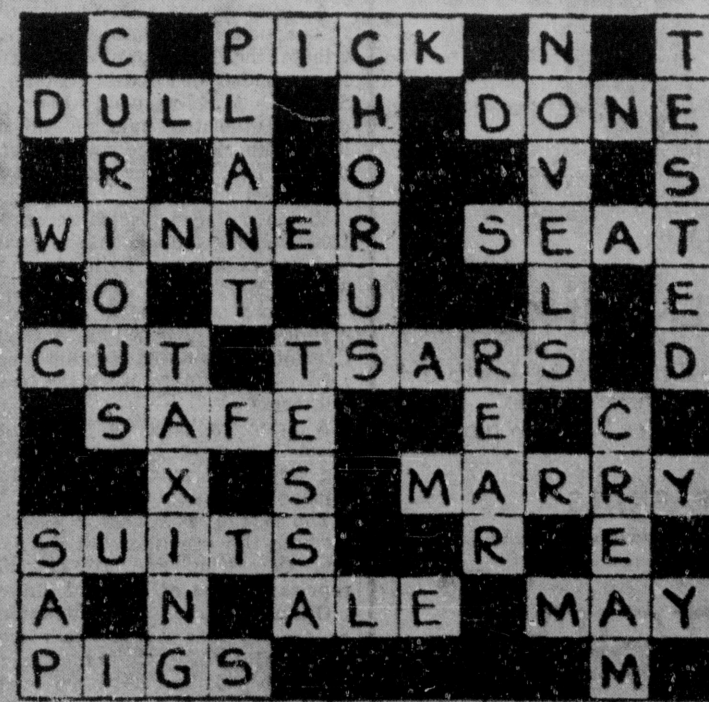

On the other hand, he told the Senate Commerce Committee, he has been informed that the policy, established before he became administrator, is to carry out "the federal executive policy not to use federal funds in any way which might result in furthering the practice of segregation."

There was vigorous questioning from Sens. Wofford (D-SC) and Ervin (D-NC), who contended the CAA has gone further on the segregation question than the Supreme Court did in its school decision.

"If a particular airport requests federal aid in the construction of a terminal building which is intended to have segregated facilities, and federal aid in the construction of a runway, the federal government will participate in the construction of the runway and in all portions of the terminal building except those which are designed or intended for segregated use."

NOTICE

A deluge of letters, resolutions and statements has been received by the News-Star & Morning World from individuals, committees and organizations relative to various aspects of the local registration question. This material has been pro and con. Because of its large volume, publication of all of the material was impossible. Rather than publish only a part of it, with possibly unfair results, the two papers have decided to omit all of the material submitted concerning this topic.

val airpower and overseas bases had to be taken into account in any appraisal of this nation's overall airpower. Mr. Eisenhower said the modern Navy "features one thing, air power."

Strategic bombing involves attacks on an enemy's cities, military bases and key production centers. The Air Force also is responsible for tactical support of field forces and the interception of enemy bombers.

Wilson previously testified before Congress on "the strategic capability that our carrier-based aircraft add to our retaliatory striking power."

But Twining told the Senate subcommittee that "the range of carrier aircraft is relatively short compared with their land-based counterpart." He said the Navy's ability to hit strategic targets is limited by "relatively short" range attack planes.

were received for the 14 tracts and the money has been collected and deposited in the federal treasury. In addition, the federal government has collected first-year rentals on the leases at the rate of $3 an acre.

Today's suit was the first legal blow by the incoming administration of Gov. Elect Earl K. Long in Louisiana's prolonged fight for offshore rights out three leagues in the Gulf.

The 1953 submerged lands act of Congress granted state control out to "historic boundaries," interpreted as three leagues in Texas and Florida, but three miles elsewhere.

Louisiana contends its offshore boundary was three leagues when it entered the union, and the claim now is pending before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Bonuses for offshore leases have added up to many millions of dollars in both state and federal treasuries.

Gremillion explained that if the tracts in the "twilight zone," between three miles and three leagues, were leased, the federal agents and the oil companies would be in contempt of court.

The petition name Sidney Groom, New Orleans branch manager, and Edward Woolley, Washington director of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management.

The order prohibited Groom and Woolley from receiving, opening or awarding bids on leases. It also forbade the oil companies from bidding or accepting leases or drilling in the disputed area.

Long will be inaugurated Tuesday, the same day the federal leasing was set.

Louisiana reaped a 13 million dollar bonus harvest at its April leasing, despite a protest by acting interior secretary Clarence Davis that six offshore tracts extended beyond the three mile limit accepted by federal officials.

The board ignored the protest and received top bids on several of the tracts.

He did not identify the fourth, Cpl. Walter S. McKenzie, of Hazel Park, Mich. Another policeman, Takeo Kijima, testified that he escorted McKenzie to a police box for questioning after the riot was quelled.

RIVERS' BRIDGE, S. C., May 11 (AP)—Northern advocates of racial integration were challenged today by South Carolina Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. "to cast off their hypocrisy and their families."

Timmerman called on "the integrationist to prove his sincerity" by supporting a program of voluntary migration of Negroes from the South to communities "where racial mixing is acceptable."

He said "a federal program of financial aid to enable those who want to mix to move" to other areas "would cost only a fraction" of the billions advocated for foreign aid.

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee agreed in effect today that the Tennessee Valley Authority may build additions to existing power plants without a congressional okay.

The committee erased from an appropriations bill a 3 1/2 million dollar appropriation to start building a new generating unit at the John Sevier steam plant.

The money had been put into the bill by the Senate after its Appropriations Committee held that the TVA should come to Congress for approval of all construction except for replacement.

USS MT. MCKINLEY, Eniwetok, May 11 (AP)—Adverse weather again today caused postponement of the scheduled H-bomb test shot.

Rear Adm. B. Hall Hanlon, task force commander, announced it would be impossible to carry out the test before Monday morning, May 14. (Sunday U. S. time)

It was the fifth postponement.

Cypriots Say

Gordon Hill and Ronnie Shilton were hanged "as necessary reprisals" for the "murder" of Michael Karaolis and Andreas Demetriou. Britain executed the two rebels Thursday in Nicosia prison for shooting other Cypriots in the Eoka campaign to free the island from British rule and bring it under control of Greece.

The pamphlet threatened similar reprisals in the future. It said their bodies would not be turned over to the British, just as British authorities refused to hand over the bodies of Karaolis and Demetriou to their families.

A few hours after youngsters first appeared in the streets to distribute the Eoka pamphlets, gunfire sounded in Nicosia's Metaxas Square. A 13-year-old boy fell dead. Authorities said he did not halt when challenged and a sentry opened fire. Another boy escaped unhurt.

Violence flared elsewhere on the 120-mile long tadpole-shaped island which has become Britain's main Middle East base.

A bomb was tossed at a commando patrol near Ktima. A Greek Cypriot woman and another passerby were wounded when the bomb fell short.

A mine exploded in the Fama-gusta - Nicosia highway, damaging an army truck. No one was injured.

The island was visibly affected by both the executions of Karaolis and Demetriou and the reported reprisal deaths of Hill and Shilton.

Official sources in London tended to the theory that both were dead. But officials on Cyprus, since they do not have the bodies for proof, cling to the theory that they still live.

tions pending on the same grounds are canceled.

The new regulations were made public in a bulletin of the Supreme Soviet dated April 23. A preamble said the measure was taken "as a result of the growth of conscientiousness in workers and the increase in their material well being, discipline in factories and institutions."

The decree revoked a law of Oct. 19, 1940, which permitted the state to transfer workers from one job to another, and other laws of 1951 and 1952 enacted to meet problems of agriculture. It annulled penalties previously imposed for leaving jobs without permission of authorities.

The degree stipulated, however, that workers who leave their jobs lose their rights to payment for temporary disability until they have been at the new jobs at least six months.

It was not clear whether the new decree would end the system under which university and institute graduates are sent to specified regions for specified terms — for example a journalist to a certain provincial newspaper for three years, or an instructor to a specified post for a term of two years.

The new decree follows a long series of Soviet moves eliminating the restrictions and excesses of the Stalin regime. It bears a direct relationship, for example, to the decree forbidding Soviet police to extort confessions by extralegal means.

schools, commented that, "There are some very bad influences in the Supreme Court," and McCarthy said:

"It's not that they are knowingly helping the Communist cause. It's just that they don't understand what they are doing. They don't understand the function of the court... They apparently feel the court should make laws and not interpret them."

Eastland presided as subcommittee chairman and McCarthy appeared as a witness for legislation which would nullify the effect of the court's April 2 decision, which was to suspend sedition laws in 42 states, Alaska and Hawaii.

In its 6-3 decision, the court set aside the conviction of Communist leader Steve Nelson, who had been prosecuted under a Pennsylvania sedition law. The court held Congress intended to give the federal government sole jurisdiction in such cases when it passed the Smith Act and other laws.

"I am going to try to get a bill out as quickly as I can," Eastland said.

Atty. Gen. George Fingold of Massachusetts and Louis Wyman of New Hampshire supported the McCarthy and Bridges bills at the hearing.

doesn't do any work at all. 20. Why should driving in PEGS be a "nuisance"? For men accustomed to it it is actually a pretty easy job. However, driving PIGS into a pen or enclosure of any kind can certainly prove a nuisance. CLUES DOWN:

1. IF CURIOUS enough, you'll want to find out exactly what was said. IF EXTREMELY FURIOUS, you, quite possibly, just won't CARE exactly what was said.

2. "MAY embody" favors PLANT since a PLANE (aircraft) will quite definitely contain precision work of interest to an engineer. Thus "may" is an understatement. A PLANT may or may not embody it.

3. CHORUS, yes but CHORDS are NOT CHORDS unless they consist of the RIGHT notes. One would speak of a discord rather than "spoilt CHORDS."

4. If there are HOVELS they certainly would reflect the poverty of certain districts. There is no "may" about it. However, certain NOVELS may reflect the poverty of certain districts.

5. For the sake of efficiency he may be TESTED. However, it would not be "for the sake of efficiency" that he would be RESTED but rather for humanitarian reasons, or in the interests of the employer.

11. TAXING is true. The Romans carried out a systematic policy of TAXATION. Unlike other invaders they did not loot or sack the country to any great extent. Thus TAKING is not apt.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX —

- Ill-matched Sizes
- Husband Comes First
- Not So Shy!

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Pete and I are going steady and are very much in love. Our families are agreeable to our romance and everything seems perfect, except for one thing. We take a lot of kidding because of our ill-matched sizes. He's 6'2" and weighs 220 pounds, while I'm 5'4" and weigh 110 pounds. Mom, especially, seems against us on that score. Worried

DEAR WORRIED: "Opposites attract" is no idle phrase. The petite miss holds a special attraction for the big man, and the other way round. If Mom has nothing against the man but his 220 pounds, tell her to stop looking for trouble. Even if you married someone much slimmer, who's to guarantee that your good cooking wouldn't put him in the 200-pound class?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: After being married six months, my husband went into service and I returned to my mother. Though I am 21, I'm the baby of the family and mother still thinks of me as a child. My husband's basic training will be over soon and I want to join him at his permanent assignment. Mother, however, insists that I stay home until his service time is over. She says he has "no business taking me away." Carol

DEAR CAROL: Mother is so wrong. You not only have the privilege of going, it's your duty to be with your husband if it can possibly be managed. Of course, it's difficult for your mother to lose you, but such has been the role of mothers since the dawn of time.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a very shy high-school junior. I've had three boy friends in the last year. Fred was unreliable and wouldn't take me out. He'd come to see me occasionally but never made a definite date. Randy was next. He had been in reform school for several months, but was a well-mannered attentive boy. Then came Harry, who had a gorgeous car and smacked it up. He's known as a reckless driver. Now I am very fond of Carl, but Mom won't let me go out with him. Don't you think she should let me choose my own boy friends? Lynne

DEAR, DEAR LYNNE: For a shy girl, you certainly get around. I don't think you have sense enough to choose your own shoes, let alone boy friends. You certainly scraped the bottom of the barrel for the three choices you already made.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What's your remedy for a boy of 18 who tries to rule the home when his father is away on business trips? He's the last child of a large family, all of whom have married except one sister. He slaps his mother and swears at his sister. He's a very strong boy and we don't dare cross him. Ellen

DEAR ELLEN: It's certainly up to Dad to put the young man in his place. At least as comptroller of the purse strings, father should have some influence. As an added means of restraint, you might take up judo. The best way to subdue a bully is with a dose of his own medicine.

Economic Highlights

"The Fantastic Farm Mess" is the eye-catching title of an article by John Strohm in the April issue of The Reader's Digest. Mr. Strohm, who is a writer of long experience on agricultural subjects and a past president of the American Agricultural Editors' Association, describes the present situation in these words: "In a costly but futile attempt to support farm prices near the levels guaranteed to farmers during World War II, the U. S. Government has succeeded only in amassing an eighteen-billion-dollar hoard of food and fiber which can't be eaten, used, sold or given away. And as surpluses have skyrocketed, farm prices have bogged down. It's a grim example of what Government can do to you while trying to do something for you."

The farmers aren't to blame, in Mr. Strohm's view—they were led into the mess by government policies and they should have helped getting out. A basic trouble is that so many false ideas about the farm program are now widely accepted as gospel. Mr. Strohm deals in a very direct and unequivocal fashion with some of these ideas—and here, in substance, is what he has to say.

One is that price supports rescued farmers from the depression. That's false—farm prices didn't start moving up until 1940 when impact of war and inflation set in.

Another is that a simple farm law can solve the problem. False again—for different kinds of farmers, in different places, all have different problems. Says Mr. Strohm: "Trying to write a 'farm law' to solve the 'farm problem' is as silly as treating all the sick with one health serum."

Still another is that high fixed farm prices mean high income. Also false—for the reason that volume of sales is a determining income factor as well as prices. Mr. Strohm observes: "You don't put more money in a farmer's pocket by boosting his price per bushel if you also cut his acreage. And any price—support program to be effective must include acreage controls."

Also, it is reasoned that government can restrict production by restricting acreage. The factual record over the years refutes that. The reason: "Farmers are not dummies. They take their poorest land out of production, fertilize heavily on the remainder, aim to grow more or less."

Mr. Strohm discusses many of the things that are wrong with farm legislation—including the fact that it is geared to the past. For example, our eating habits as a nation have changed. We eat far less starchy foods and far more meat and dairy products, among other things, than we used to. Our per capita wheat consumption has dropped drastically—but the support laws encourage maximum wheat production.

Finally, Mr. Strohm has praise for President Eisenhower's program, which includes vigorous efforts to increase overseas sale of surpluses; encouragement to farmers to produce for consumption instead of storage; the soil bank; more research designed to develop both new crops and new uses for old crops, and fewer controls, with government cooperation, not dictating. "This," Mr. Strohm says, "is a sound program for the farmer, and a fair one for the taxpayer. But it will take statesmanship of the highest order to resist the temptation to try to unravel the farm problem on the basis of political expediency."

From The Same Tree

A short time ago a 10-year-old California boy won the $100,000 jackpot on a TV quiz program.

This was a remarkable feat. What makes it still more remarkable is that the questions involved had to do with the stock market. They were tough questions too—it's a safe bet that not one adult in many thousands could have answered them correctly. As a fitting climax to the victory, the president of the New York Stock Exchange presented the young wizard with $2500 worth of stock of his own choosing, plus a monthly investment plan of $40 a month for five years.

There is a further significance in this. It is certainly not possible that many youngsters will become ranking authorities on all the procedures and complexities involved in corporation finance. But it is eminently desirable that great numbers of the adult-of-tomorrow learn the basic principles of finance in a free enterprise system—and learn too what stock exchanges do and why they are necessary. There are now something like 7.5 million shareholders in American corporate enterprise. It is estimated that, if our businesses are to grow as they should and in the manner they should, this number must be multiplied many times. And that means that tens of million more people must gain the necessary knowledge and interest.

Under political democracy, everyone has the right to vote. Under economic democracy, everyone has the right to invest in a business and become a partner. The two are branches of the same sturdy tree.

A Perpetual Farm Crop

With the dawning of this century, the forest industries faced the fact that well over half of the total area of U. S. commercial forest lands was held in tens of thousands of small individual ownerships averaging 60 to 70 acres each.

The problem was how to organize all of these individual forest properties into a coordinated system to insure wise management of the woodlands so that the country's forest resources could be preserved for the future under a "sustained yield" program.

An answer was provided in the American Tree Farm System sponsored nationally by the American Forest Industries Association, Inc. Inaugurated in 1940 as a single operation of 121,000 acres, in 10 years it had spread to 29 states embracing an acreage of over 22 million.

More and more woodland owners are recognizing the value of their timber stands and the importance of managing their woodlands for continuing timber crops. To become a tree farmer a property owner must have demonstrated the desire and ability to protect and manage his timberland. The system is sponsored and directed at the local level, and the program provides technical assistance and field demonstrations to show how farm woodlots can produce repeated cash crops.

THESE DAYS

By
George Sokolsky

The Gist Of The Problem

Everybody really prefers peace to war, particularly a war fought with atom and hydrogen bombs which can destroy the earth. The only argument about the bombs is how many it will take to destroy the earth and of what size? When the Russians or Adlai Stevenson or anyone else objects to hydrogen bomb testing, it is because the destructive capacity of a hydrogen bomb can be in its fall-out, and each one counts, whether it is used in warfare or as a test. Also there is no limit to the possible size of a hydrogen bomb. What that could mean is that hypothetically one bomb could be made large enough to destroy the world.

Facing that, everybody is for peace. Certainly President Eisenhower is as much for peace as Party Secretary Khrushchev is for peace. The difference, however, is that Khrushchev demands that the United States make all the concessions so that they favor Soviet Russia, whereas Eisenhower wants peace on the basis that all nations conform to a general rule with special privileges for none. If the hydrogen bomb is to be abolished as a weapon of war, there must be universal inspection not only of stock piles and manufacturing plants but also of the sources of raw materials. There must be constant and publicly-available reports and there must be a method for control of all operations. In this situation it is not sound to trust any country.

The Russians have made great strides in empire building and in creating a modern industry since 1939 when they went to war. But for them war now is especially dangerous because they require time to consolidate their gains, to justify the enormous sacrifices of the Russian and satellite peoples by raising their standards of living, and to strengthen the regime that has taken over both the party and the government since Stalin died.

In a broadcast from Moscow in English, this is made perfectly clear:

"The Soviet Union is vitally interested in peace because without it our plans for economic and cultural development are not feasible. We Soviet men and women would like to see the efforts and funds now being expended on defense used for improving the living conditions of the peoples . . . Then this broadcast went on to say: "We could be enjoying the highest living standard in the world today were it not for the funds and efforts we had to expend in repulsing the aggressors and invaders throughout the existence of Soviet power. Our chief goal on the home scene is to extend these various living standards, and that is why on the international scene we follow a policy of nonaggression, of constantly working for peace . . ."

It is interesting that a broadcast from Moscow should be so urgent, so clear-cut, in this particular respect. The visit to Great Britain of Khrushchev and Bulganin it was hoped would reduce "world tension," when, as a matter of fact, there need not have been any world tensions had it not been, since 1943 (Teheran), Russian policy to build a world empire on the skeleton of the collapsing empires of the Western European countries.

The new regime may say and it undoubtedly does say that suspicions of their motives are based on the conduct and decisions of Stalin who is dead. They are willing to accept all the gains that Stalin made for them but none of the disadvantages of Stalinism. Were these men new to the Kremlin, perhaps a revolutionary group who had overthrown Stalin, there could be some justice to their plea. But these men were Stalin's assistants who carried out his orders and helped him in all his tortuous enterprises. It is impossible to regard them as other than Stalin's assistants now risen to his former powers. It is therefore impossible to remove from them the aura of suspicion that encircles them, and what is more Khrushchev proved that this general attitude is correct whenever he lost his temper in Great Britain.

True, nobody wants war, least of all the American people who have lost much and gained nothing in two wars. But also, the American people cannot be caught agreeing to all of Khrushchev's propositions without checks and controls and then find that while they have lessened their defenses, the Russian has strengthened his aggressive powers. We may be dumb, but not that dumb.

Lights Over Broadway

Irving Berlin (who could get RCA, MGM, Fox and other "Angels" to put up the money) will be the only backer of his next musical, "Sentimental Guy." This is the song-and-dance based on "The Legend of the Legendary Mizers" which S. N. Behrman adapted. Jose Ferrer may be the star.

Berlin has always been contemptuous of the technique used to audition backers. . . When Sam H. Harris was his partner (for their shows at the Music Box) they never went to outsiders for coin. . . Eileen Barton invaded the legit (in Summer Stock) via "Dear Barbarians." Grace Kelly played it on her climb to the heights. . . Gretchen Wyler, who joined the "Silk Stockings" cast just before the premiere, is now featured over the title on tour. . . Kitty Carlisle starring in the revived "Kiss Me Kate" (at the City Center) receives $5 per week. All stars get that fee there. . . She pays her maid $75 and wears an $8000 Valentino creation. . . Broadway's Big Tee-Hee: The Town & Country night spots advertises: "Spend Mother's Day with Martha Raye!"

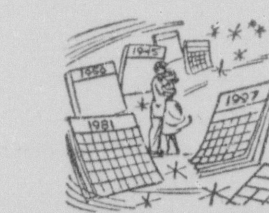

Dr. Kinsey has been in our feverish midst all week. He tells a good story about tact. . . Years ago (at the suggestion of friends) Polly Adler (the one-time Madam) who put her history in the best-seller, "A House Is Not A Home," wrote Kinsey asking if he would write the "forward" to her book. . . Kinsey (always the Gentleman) replied warmly and mispelled "forward" too. . . This endeared him to her and their friendship bloomed. . . Kinsey also enjoys reporting that he got into many European brothels which barred her!

Broadway's newest amazement is Ray Ellis, the arranger-conductor.

tor. . . He is 29. . . Less than a year ago he was a record-salesman in Philly. . . His genius lifted four new songs to the top in five months. . . No arranger, they say, has ever turned out so many hits in so short a time. . . The songs: "No, Not Much," "Moments To Remember," "Standing On the Corner" and "Seven Days." . . The new song click "Hot Diggity," includes a hefty chunk of Chabrier's Rhapsodie Espagnole. . . Marie Doro, a star for Charles Frohman 40 years ago, has written a ballad called, "Do I Make It Clear?" which Chappell will publish. In her day Marie was called "the most beautiful woman on the American stage." . . Carmen McRae, the thrush, has quite a little family going in her act. Her former husband (Kenny Clarke) plays the drums alongside her new groom (Ike Isaacs) who handles the bass fiddle.

"The Wedding in Monaco" (in CinemaScope and Color) was previewed the other night. Quite a film. Goes into the theatres shortly. Metro acquired the U.S. rights from a Monaco filmman. It includes scenes (showing the wedding preparations) which are almost identical to those in Grace Kelly's latest picture, "The Swan." . . One of New York's oldest churches (St. Nicholas on East 2nd Street) will become a tv studio. The biggest studio-stage in town. The church was built in 1830. . . Perry Como's earnings from recordings and teevee are reportedly a million a year. He also publishes the new No. 1 ditty, "Hot Diggity," which he thrashed. Sold over a million copies to date. . . The "Inherit The Wind" producer makes no secret of his great disappointment over the Pulitzer medal going to "Anne Frank." . . The movie version of "Anne Frank" may not be played by its star Susan Strasberg. The studio is coaching a new face — also 17.

With so many $300,000 musicals running into trouble (in the tryout towns) "The Littlest Revue" will open cold at the Phoenix Theatre on the 22nd. . . The cost: $30,000. For Ben Bagley and his associates

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Mother's Day

Every day is Mother's Day, including the nights, so if one day off-duty is afforded her, she will appreciate it deeply. Just to be freed of the daily routine would be wonderful gift for her. Not to be bothered about the whereabouts of Dad's blue shirt or Sister's sweater, not to have to plan breakfast and supper for a whole day—what bliss! Just to be free to sit and smile at her children, to eat a meal she has not planned and cooked, just to enjoy her family—what a wonderful day that would be.

When the children are small, someone, usually Dad, must take over as far as possible. A drive to some outlying restaurant is a great treat and if there is someone to take care of the small children so they need not be taken along, that adds to the glamour of the occasion. A free day seasoned with family affection is about ideal for Her Day.

When the children have grown up and are far from home, a telegram, a telephone message, best of all a long letter, can be a happy surprise. When at all possible, a visit, a gathering of the whole family, is about the best gift a mother can have—providing, of course, that the work does not fall on her shoulders. Mother is to enjoy a real holiday from the routine tasks of housekeeping.

There must be gifts, of course. Do let them be on the luxury side. By luxury is meant something out of the ordinary, like a fine plant, a bit of jewelry that Mother has longed for but did not dare to buy. It may be a book that she wanted but could not see her way to buy. Maybe it is a record of some fine music that she longed to own. Something, in short, that Mother would like to have but could not or would not buy for herself.

You see, mothers are schooled to self-denial. They give up their time, their tastes, their wants, and merge themselves with their families and unless the family become aware of this, her days are days of duty. Mother's Day gives her children a chance to return some of the affection, even some of the self-denial, if they will.

Some mothers grumble that Mother's Day is just another commercial stunt to boost business. The boost that business gets is just a side product of a beautiful thought and is not to be grudged. The shops offer fine service for this Day and they are to be approved for it accordingly. So here's to Mother's Day. Bring on the flowers and the letters and the grandchildren, and make it a wonderful day for Her. And make sure she does none of the work involved. It's her one holiday.

Learning to spell is difficult for some children. How you can give your child help in spelling at home is outlined by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P-30 "Aid for Poor Spellers." To obtain copy send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

this will be a lavish outlay. . . Last season he brought in a hit, "The Shoestring Revue." for $15,000. . . "Straight From The Shoulder," Steve Clayton's new Jubilee platter, sounds like it will make it. . . Martyn Green, who played the Admiral in "Pinafore" 2500 times, signed for tv's "I Spy." . . Wanted a change of pace. His first role: An Admiral. . . In his new book, "America, I Like You," author P. G. Wodehouse describes his first impression of Our Town: "Being there was like being in heaven without going to all the bother and expense of dying." . . Burt Lancaster and Harold Hecht will not use Paris for the "Trapeze" premiere. They'll fly European critics to B'way.

IN WASHINGTON

Demo Party Nominee

The Texas victory of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson to lead his state delegation to the Democratic National convention serves to accentuate the unpredictable factors which will figure in the choice of the nominee of the Democratic party for President.

For one thing, it makes the outcome even more uncertain to a point where even the veterans won't venture a guess. Which of the likely candidates, among whom Senator Johnson must now be included, would have the best chance to defeat President Eisenhower?

The expressions of Democratic members of Congress, national committeemen and state governors are so conflicting that attempts to poll them are productive of no sound conclusions.

In a congressional poll, Adlai E. Stevenson seems to be running far ahead. There is, however, not much enthusiasm for the former Illinois governor. To find a precedent for this situation, Democratic historians must go back to 1908, when William Jennings Bryan was still a power in his party, strong enough to be nominated for the Presidency a third time, but with scant hope that he would defeat William Howard Taft, the choice of President Theodore Roosevelt.

Bryan still held a "hard core" support which had followed him through two unsuccessful campaigns, against William McKinley in 1896 and 1900. But there was a strong element in the party which swung to the Republican nominee in each of Bryan's three campaigns. Bryan depended heavily on the solid South but in 1908, the breakaway began, with Taft carrying Maryland and Missouri, and winning by 321 electoral votes to 162. Eisenhower's 1952 margin over Stevenson was 442 to 89.

That may sound like ancient history, but it has some bearing on the prospects of the next Democratic nominee. Eisenhower has already cracked the solid South against Stevenson in his first election and could do so again this year, according to early polls.

Senator Estes Kefauver has done well in picking up delegates on his own, but still has less support in Congress, according to a poll by the Congressional Quarterly, than Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, a definite dark horse. Congress however does not nominate the candidate for President, though some of its members play an important part in the selection.

Of these, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, an eminently fair presiding officer, will function in that position again. He will be fresh from his political victory as Senator Johnson's principal sponsor. His prestige will be enhanced and even the left wingers in the party, who believe they can control the convention, will be looking to him to guarantee fair play. Other Democrats hope that he will be the strongest force in avoiding a party split.

Senator Johnson is now regarded in Washington as a real dark horse candidate, with the probability that his own Texas delegation will be firmly behind him. If that happens, he will have other southern support, and could well run third on the first ballot behind Kefauver and Stevenson.

Now the remaining important objectives in the long drawn pre-convention fight are Florida on May 29 and California in June 5, in both of which Kefauver and Stevenson will clash head-on for delegates. The loser, say the prophets, will be virtually eliminated as the convention's choice. Since both states, were carried by Eisenhower over Stevenson in 1952, a Stevenson victory in those two states still would not put him in the driver's seat, because in the back of the mind of every Democratic partisan is the hope that the convention will come up with a nominee with a good chance to defeat the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket now running ahead in the polls by a considerable margin.

Both states have made tremendous population gains since 1952. More people have moved into California since 1940 than reside in all of Florida, but the latter state has gone through a period of unprecedented industrialization and acquired hordes of retired oldsters. In view of those developments, neither state can be regarded as representative and the primary outcomes will hardly be regarded as decisive by a majority of the delegates.

The question which seems to confront the convention, then is whether Stevenson is to be named for a re-run of 1952, largely in the same spirit Bryan was named in 1908, or whether the party can center on a candidate whom a majority of voters will like better than Dwight D. Eisenhower. From that perspective, it may turn out to be a whale of a convention.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Frank refused to let his child attend Sunday school for Frank says he didn't want to prejudice the boy. But that very parental domination by Frank has prejudiced the boy against the best element in modern society. Did the pagans or the church people give us our colleges and hospitals and Red Cross, Salvation Army and Boy Scouts?

Case R-354: Frank F., aged about 55, sent me a pamphlet in which he explained to his son why

he had never let the boy enjoy Christian instruction in a church. "I have attempted to prevent your being coerced by adult opinion; was the general idea in this pamphlet."

"Now that you are 21, however, and an adult, I leave it up to you whether or not you should attend a church."

"But I didn't want to be guilty of prejudicing your scientific mind in its earlier years, so I have kept you away from churches till now." Should a parent deprive his child of the Salk vaccine against polio till the youngster was 21 and old enough to decide for himself?

Should he keep his baby away from physicians till he was 21 and only then let him learn about the merits of inoculation against diphtheria or smallpox?

Actually, if a parent compels his youngsters to stay away from contact with unselfish moral teachers who donate their time in the Sunday schools, isn't that a form of adult prejudice which he is imposing on those youngsters?

Before a child can decide whether he wants to go to Sunday school, he should be permitted to "taste" church life. And don't wait till he is 21 years of age to give him your parental "O.K." on so doing.

"Man does not live by bread alone," states the Great Physician on whom the Christian churches of all denominations are founded. That means that spiritual nurture and ethical ideals are vital to the development of the well integrated personality.

It would obviously be unwise for a parent to deprive his baby of protein until the age of 21.

"If I gave him protein before he was an adult, I would be prejudicing him," Frank might argue with equal justification.

It is the solemn duty of all good parents to analyze those forces in modern life which, to the best of the parents' judgment, produce good.

This includes foods and medicines and education both secular as well as religious.

Then such parents should nurture their children on such personality so that by the age of desirable aids to a wholesome personality so that by the age of 21, their youngsters are self-reliant.

We dare not keep children away from schools till 21. And the same is equally true of Sunday school or moral agencies like the YMCA, the CYO, Salvation Army, etc.

It is true enough that most churches retain antiquated ritual that is illogical and out-of-date. But so do our law codes, which lag 25 to 50 years behind the times, yet we don't urge children to ignore the laws.

The typical modern church emphasizes brotherhood of mankind. It tries to teach children to be considerate, unselfish and friendly, instead of tactless, selfish and spiteful.

Generous men and women donate their time each Sabbath to take your toddlers and start inspiring their minds to noble attainment.

Other altruistic souls contribute money for buildings and heat for such church gatherings. They offer these moral aids FREE.

Parents whose personal bias, based on maybe too heavy a diet of old-fashioned theology, makes them hostile to modern churches, should visit a neighboring Sunday school for a few weeks just as neutral observers.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Good news from State Farm Mutual
"the careful driver insurance company"

New! Low-cost auto insurance plan

Lowest renewal rates available to the general public in Louisiana...
25% lower than the rates charged by most other companies.

Thanks to a recent ruling by Louisiana officials, State Farm Mutual auto insurance is now an even better buy.

NEW LOW RATES:

In recognition of its streamlined, money-saving operating methods, State Farm Mutual is now permitted to sell auto insurance to its present members at 25% less than the rates fixed for most other companies by the State. And this 25% saving is pocketed by members in advance. It is not paid afterwards in the form of a dividend.

For present members, these new rates become effective with their first renewal after May 13, 1956.

NEW MEMBERSHIP FEE:

This is a slightly higher premium paid once only by new members for their first 6 months of insurance. This membership fee helps make low rates possible. It covers sales cost, such as sales commission and other sales costs of putting a new member's name on the books. It's charged once and only once—the first time you take out a coverage.

Present State Farm members are not required to pay membership fees for coverages they now carry.

Bids Solicited On Operation Of Storage Station

Smallbusiness firms in the north-east Louisiana area who desire to bid on a government contract for operation of Slack Air Force Station at Shreveport may contact the Small Business Administration in Dallas, Texas, it was learned here yesterday. The contract would be for one year, ending June 30, 1957.

In a letter received by James Williams, secretary of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, C. Ray Martin, chief of the Office of Procurement and Technical Assistance in Dallas, stated that firms consisting of less than 500 employees would be considered for the contract.

Martin explained that operation of the station consists of "furnishing supervision, labor, equipment, and clerical force necessary to provide maintenance and repair of real property and other equipment, fire and security protection, operation of utility plants, pest control, preventative services, technical services, disposal of refuse and scrap and etc."

Any firm wishing to obtain more information, may do so by writing to the Small Business Administration, 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas 2, Tex.

Stock Market Closes Steady And Unchanged

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—The stock market built up strong resistance to a decline today, on the heels of yesterday's sharp fall, and managed to close with a steady tone.

Prices were mixed over a range of around 2 points either way with most major divisions showing a wide mixture of gains and losses. Yesterday's market suffered one of the year's greatest drops, and the decline continued today at the opening. Overnight orders were to sell, and buyers took in the offerings at reduced prices.

Timid holders soon disposed of their stock, however, and prices began to mount as resistance to selling increased. In the late afternoon the market was slightly higher on balance, but final selling put prices back below their best.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at $187.90 after having been down 50 cents at noon. It lost $2.50 yesterday, second most severe decline of the year.

The mixed nature of the situation was shown by the advance of 30 cents in the industrial component, a decline of 20 cents in the rails, and a gain of 10 cents in utilities.

Volume amounted to 450,000 shares as compared with 2,850,000 shares traded yesterday.

Council To Back Talks In North On Race Question

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 11 (AP)—Plans to send speakers through the north to explain southern views on racial segregation were announced today by Dr. John H. Whitley, chairman of the Citizens Councils of Alabama.

The councils are organizations of white men set up in several Southern states to preserve segregation through legal means.

Whitley said among speakers who may be called upon are Rep. Charles W. McKay Jr., Talladega, newly elected Alabama Democratic national committeeman and State Sen. Albert Boutwell of Birmingham.

McKay defeated Gov. James E. Folsom for the key party post. The 35-year-old legislator was author of the interposition resolution which the legislature adopted, interposing authority of the state between enforcement of federal integration decrees and the people of Alabama.

A new Citizens Council rally has been called at Birmingham next Thursday, on the anniversary of the U. S. Supreme Court decree outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

McKay is to be one of the speakers. Mississippi Judge Tom Brady has been asked to speak, and said he will do so if he can arrive in time from a Texas engagement.

Oklahoma May Back Harriman

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11 (AP)—A majority of Oklahoma's delegation to the Democratic National Convention would vote for New York Gov. Averell Harriman for the presidential nomination if the vote were taken now, Gov. Raymond Gary predicted today.

Gary, chairman of the delegation, is considered as favorable to Harriman although he has declined to commit himself.

Gary also predicted the Oklahoma delegation will not go for Adlai Stevenson, 1952 nominee, on the first ballot. The governor again declared he will not be a favorite son candidate.

Why Grow Old?

Get Ready Now To Expose Your Toes In The Summer

I thought of heading this column, "Toes in the poses." How corny can I get? Don't answer that, please.

Nevertheless, it is true that our toes will be in full view many times during the summer. Even if you are not addicted to walking barefoot in the grass your feet will be exposed on the beach and in the revealing play shoes of hot weather. So, perhaps we should give them a little extra thought.

You may have quite a bit of rough skin on your toes and heels after this winter's weather. The cuticle about your nails may be dry and hard. Nightly attention to these areas will bring you real results in a couple of weeks time.

Each night after your bath rub the rough areas with a bath towel. After this, massage well with a softening body lotion. Before going to sleep rub cuticle oil or cream into the rough skin about the toenails. This treatment is inexpensive and simple enough but will be effective if you will take the time to give your feet this treat.

Many women who have regular manicures, neglect pedicures. If you can have the first one done by an expert this will help you keep up the good work later on. If not, at least take as good care of your toenails as you do of your fingernails.

Soak in your bath longer than usual before giving yourself a pedicure. After drying push the cuticle back gently from the toenails. Do not cut cuticle unless necessary. Cut the nails straight across the top in order to avoid ingrown toenails.

If you use polish on your toenails apply this just as you do on your fingernails. Use the undercoat, two layers of polish and the topcoat.

Many women who use clear polish on their fingernails use colored polish on their toenails. I myself think that any toes look better with the colored kind. Let's face it, babies are usually the only ones with pretty feet and a bit of color takes the spotlight away from any foot defects we grownups may have!

One warning—be sure to keep the polish in good repair. Nothing

Thanks Accorded Retiring Police Jury Members

The Ouachita parish police jury gave a rising vote of thanks to five of its retiring members for looks worse than broken polish on the toenails, and do not have the color too vivid.

their combined 37 years of service to Ouachita parish during their last meeting.

W. A. Mills has served as police juror from Ward 6 for the past 20 years. In a short speech he said that he had enjoyed serving with the police jury.

J. H. Brown from ward seven has served for a total of eight years.

H. M. James has been representing Ward 10 for the past four years and M. M. Bayles from Ward five for the same length of time.

F. E. Maxwell from Ward five was appointed last year to take G. B. Avant's place.

Ask Government For Adjustment In Oil Imports

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — The government was asked today what actions will be taken to adjust petroleum imports within the limits recognized by both the executive and legislative branches "as necessary to defense."

Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum

Assn. of America wrote Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming that the association recognizes "sincere efforts have been made by your office to bring oil imports within the limits set by government policy."

But, his letter said, "the time has come for positive action to make the policy effective in the public interest."

Negro Division Completes Goal In Cancer Drive

George M. Rorex, Ouachita Parish Cancer Crusade chairman, has announced the successful completion of the Cancer Drive by the colored division. He said that the amount collected by the colored workers amounts to 10 per cent of the total funds collected to date in the parish, and that they completed their work before the conclusion of the parish drive which still is receiving gifts and neighbor-to-neighbor envelopes from various sections of the Twin Cities.

Rorex, in congratulating the colored workers in the name of the Ouachita Parish Cancer Unit, said that special appreciation goes to the various chairmen and their loyal workers for an outstanding job of well planned work.

Among the leaders are: Mrs. R. Bose, chairman of the colored division; Mrs. H. McClanahan, treasurer; A. V. Turner, publicity; B. D. Robinson; schools, Dr. R. O. Pierce, professions; A. H. Bowie, business; Rev. B. J. Washington, churches; and the many area leaders and workers who supported this life-saving crusade.

Federal Judges

theory "has been overturned" by the Supreme Court in every other field and also perhaps in transportation.

Carter didn't argue that the Supreme Court decided the segregation issue last month but he said there is room for doubt.

It was at that point that Rives, presiding over the hearing, said that in his opinion the Supreme Court hasn't decided the issue, and Lynne added, "that's my opinion, too."

The Supreme Court on April 23 dismissed an appeal from the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a case involving city buses in Columbia, S. C.

The Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., had held bus segregation unconstitutional and had sent the case back to District Court at Columbia, where it originated, to determine the question of damages.

City attorneys also resisted the attack on segregation laws in federal court with a persistent effort to show that complaining Negroes were willing to live under them until recent weeks.

white population both in the state generally and in Ouachita Parish. In Ouachita Parish in 1954 there were 78 deaths from cancer among the white population and a rate of 67.2 as compared to 38 non-white with the rate of 32.8 per 100,000. This is statistical evidence that this year's Crusade slogan is based on fact: "Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check."

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Cotton
futures closed $1.60 a bale higher
to 45 cents lower today.
Strength in old crop July futures
was the dominant feature. July
will become the spot trading
month on Monday after nearby
May contracts expire. The fact that there has been little liquidat-
ing pressure on May and the sharp discount of July under May
futures attracted buying to the
July contract.

Gains in that month extended
to $1.80 a bale before profit taking
and spot house selling pared part
of the advance.

New crop months were firm in earlier dealings, with spot house
buying of October and December aggressive. Profit taking and heaving caused those deliveries to sag
toward the close.
There were 20 May transferable
notices issued at New York and
they appeared to be promptly stopped. A leading spot firm liquidated more than 10,000 bales of nearby May futures, according to ring estimates. The May open interest at the start today was down
to 46,800 bales.

An Agriculture Department
spokesman indicated that the
C.C.C. will soon take bids weekly
for export cotton instead of every two weeks as presently scheduled.

Letter

Nearly all of the action was in the old July. Active short covering accompanied by professional buying and some mill purchasing
caused that month to close a dollar
and a half a bale higher. Perhaps a statement by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture to the effect

the CCC did not intend to lower
its selling prices on surplus cotton
below 27.50 basis middling 15-16
inch was a major bullish factor.
Part of the professional buying
was attributed to the fact that the
May contract expires next Monday and July could assume its strong position. At this writing
there is no obvious indication, however, of any major firm wanting to support that month. Despite additional buying by the large spot
firm in new crop months most of them closed slightly lower on weekend profit taking and a little hedg-

ing. Liverpool was strong being unchanged to up 67 cent points
on the belief the sales prices on
CCC cotton will not be lowered.
The CCC will announce at 5 p.m.
central standard time today the
quantity of cotton sold on their second sale held this week.
The farm bill will reach the senate for a vote next week. The senate committee attached an amendment calling for the CCC to limit the price on export cotton to
that level at which the first million bales were sold plus carrying charges.

Monroe Whips Baton Rouge On Neal's 2-Hitter, 3 - 1

Connally Sparks Sports' 12-Blow Offensive With 3

BATON ROUGE, La., May 11 (Special)—Jerry Neal, 18-year-old Monroe righthander, handcuffed the Baton Rouge Rebels on two hits tonight as the Sports turned back the Rebs, 3-1, in the opener of a two-game series here.

Monroe blasted Baton Rouge hurlers Don Tidwell and Joe Habrel for 12 hits as every member of the visiting lineup got at least one safe blow.

Bill Connally, playing second base for the Sports in a lineup shift to make up for the loss of shortstop Jack George to an injury against the Rebs at Monroe Thursday night, led the Monroe assault with three singles. All hits in the game were singles except a double by the Rebs' Ken Adkins.

Ten Gulf States Records Bettered In Tech's Meet

RUSTON, La., May 11 (Special)—Louisiana tech captured ten first places to win a quadrangular track meet here tonight over Northwestern State, Northeast State, and Mississippi Southern. Final scores gave the Techsters 80 1/2 Northwestern 77 5/8, Mississippi Southern 14 2/3, and Northeast 8.

It was a thriller all the way with Tech and N.S.C. battling right down to the final event before the winner could be decided. Northwestern's defeat marked the first time the Demons have lost to a Gulf States Conference team since the 1953 season.

There were three double winners, all members of the Tech team. They were Joel Thomas, 120 high hurdles and 220 low hurdles; Bruce Lenoir, 100 and 220 dashes; Robert Dunbar, mile and 2-mile runs.

Ten events were better than the existing G.S.C. records and one event tied a record. However, only official conference records are set in the G.S.C. meet, which will be held next week in Lake Charles.

Those events better than existing marks include 120 high hurdles, 220 low hurdles; 220 dash, mile and 2-mile runs, pole vault, 440 relay, all by Tech; high jump by Northeast; 440 dash and mile relay by Northwestern. Tech also tied 100-yard dash record.

Landy Tries For 6th Sub-4-Minute Mile Run Today

FRESNO, Calif., May 11 (UP)—The incredible John Landy tries to better four minutes in the mile run for the sixth time here Saturday night in the West Coast Relays — but inclement weather may balk the attempt.

Landy finished his training for the special event Thursday in the sun — but when he got up around noon Friday he found the skies overcast with a slight sprinkle of rain. And the prediction is for "above average" winds.

"I need perfect conditions to run four-minute mile," said the slender Australian. "I don't know what to think now. This is such a nice place and the track looks real fast. I hate to see things spoiled."

Landy finished his training by jogging four miles on the turf at Ratcliffe Stadium, then going another four miles on the track, finishing off with wind sprints.

Meanwhile, a new threat to his supremacy loomed in the person of Ron Delaney, the smiling Irishman from Villanova. Delaney finished third behind Jim Bailey of Oregon and Landy in the 3:58.6 mile at Los Angeles last Saturday.

"But I'm sure I can do better this time," said Delaney. "I have my coach here with me and we have a different strategy plotted."

Tech Blasts Demons Out Of Gulf States Lead, 5-1

RUSTON, La., May 11 (Special)—Louisiana Tech knocked Northwestern State out of the Gulf States Conference baseball lead here Friday afternoon by pounding out a 5-1 win over the visitors.

The Techmen put across two runs in the first on singles by Bobby Shores, center fielder, Doug Robertson, first baseman, and pitcher Milford Andrews. A three-run homer by Shores in the fourth gave the Bulldogs added insurance. Right fielder Jim Knotts had singled and catcher Curtis Allen was hit by a ball before the four bagger was hit.

N.S.C. scored its lone run in the seventh when center fielder Larry White opened with a double, first baseman H. A. Butler singled and Harry Fontenot, demon catcher, came up with a double.

Both starting pitchers went all the way. Tech's Milford Andrews gave up nine hits while Billy Cook, the loser, was tapped for 11 safeties. It was Cook's first loss in G.S.C. play after winning four straight.

The loss gave Northwestern a 7-4 conference record and dropped them to second place behind McNeese with a 7-3 standing. By winning, Tech keeps alive a chance at the title. The Bulldogs now have a 6-4 record.

Northwestern will play host to Northeast Saturday in a game at Natchitoches that starts at 1:45 p.m. The Techsters travel to Louisiana College to clash with the Wildcats at Pineville Saturday afternoon.

Ray Elected To Northeast Hall Of Fame

Yocom, Crocker 'Most Valuable' Grid, Cage Aces

WITH BANNER — RAY. . . MT

Northwestern Louisiana State athletes, past and present, won recognition as the annual Honors Day program at the Monroe Institution yesterday with Lloyd Ray, football standout of nearly four years, being honored as the first Indian athlete to be elected to the Northeast Hall of Fame.

Francis "Red" Yocom, captain and tackle of last year's Redskin football machine, was named "most valuable football player" for the 1955 season, and Lloyd Crocker was similarly rewarded as "most valuable basketball player" for the 1955-56 campaign.

Ray, a blocking back at Haynesville High School before enrolling at Northeast, developed under former Indian coach James L. Malone as one of Northeast's finest quarterbacks. The "weak arm" back of his freshman and sophomore years at Northeast became one of the best passers ever seen in these parts in his junior and senior year. He played his last football at Northeast in 1952, graduating in the spring of 1953.

"Lloyd as one of the best players I ever coached," Malone said when advised of Ray's selection to the Hall of Fame. "He had a chance to go to pro football, but military duties called instead."

Ray, released from military service about a month ago, was here to receive the award. He is accepting a position with Arkansas Fuel at Shreveport.

The Hall of Fame committee for Northeast, basing its choices of athletes since the former junior college became a four-year school five years ago, plans to consider annually athletes for the award, but it was pointed out that in some years accord may not be reached each year and thus there may be years when no addition is made. However, the selections are not limited to a single athlete, and it's possible for two or more to be named some years if the committee votes agree.

Requirements for the Hall of Fame are not for athletic ability alone. Such an athlete must have already graduated and must have shown high scholastic and leadership qualities while in school.

In addition to the selection of Yocom for his most valuable gridder award presented by Sam Rubin, Jr., other football awards were for best freshman player, Joe Driskill, the Wayne Parker Award; best lineman, Dalton Smith, the Dr. W. L. Bendel Award; best blocker, Sherrod McKoin, the James L. Malone Award; best trainer, Wallace Hargens, best back, Mack Powell, the D. V. Loftin Award; and sportsmanship, Sammy Moore, the Dave McKenzie Award.

Crocker, in addition to the most valuable cage award, also was named basketball's "best sport." Other cages honored were Bill Bradley, best foul shot, All-Gulf States Conference award, and named captain for the past season; and Chester Pickering, best trainer.

Intramural athletic certificates were also issued to: Men — (Touch football) Rex Dillingham, Felton Emerik, Frank Jungina, Sam Jungina, Dalton Harrell, Harold Hawkins, Lloyd Mahaffey, Bobby May, Robert Smith, and C. D. Watson. (Place-kick) James Mock. (Table tennis) James Mock. (Basketball free throw) Don Hoyem.

Woodling Career Won't Be Halted If He's Diabetic

CLEVELAND, May 11 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' physician said today that if outfielder Gene Woodling has diabetes "it won't handicap his playing."

The physician, Dr. Don Kelly, conferred with Dr. Herman Sobol, of Patterson, N.J., a specialist in internal medicine under whose direction a series of tests on Woodling are being made.

"There is not enough evidence to make a definite diagnosis," Dr. Kelly quoted the New Jersey specialist.

Sugar content test indicated the possibility of diabetes but this is not a positive test.

"Even if the tests should prove Gene has diabetes, it's a treatable disease and it won't handicap his playing," Dr. Kelly said.

Billy Talbert of tennis fame and other athletes are diabetics, regularly taking insulin.

Gene said he has been told by his doctors that if he should have diabetes "it has been caught in plenty of time."

Woodling, 32, expects to undergo tests for another 48 hours and hopes to report back to the Indians early next week.

Meanwhile, Rocky Colavito will be in the Cleveland lineup.

Redskins Blast Cats, 17-3

Fighting to stay out of the Gulf States Conference cellar, the Northeast Indians laced the Louisiana College Wildcats, 17-3, here yesterday afternoon with a 17-hit attack. The Tribe, holding a 4-7 record for conference play this year, travels to Natchitoches today to complete their season against Northwestern.

Five Northeast hits, four stolen bases, a walk, and a lone error fastened a five-run handicap on the 'Cats in the first inning yesterday.

In the fourth frame centerfielder Donald Stewart lashed a two-base blow to add another pair of Redskins markers.

The visitors collected two runs in the third and another in the sixth.

James Mock took the hill for the Tribe and lasted the distance for the victory. Sonny Clark was the initial moundsman for the Wildcats, but gave way to Lefty Clark in the eighth.

N.L.S.C. has hopes of knocking the Demons from G.S.C. title contention today. The Monroe outfit has defeated the two leading teams in the loop, McNeese and Northwestern.

Going into the clash today will be four Northeast athletes who will be giving their final performance for their Alma Mater. Harold Davis, Tommie Leos, Donald Stewart, and Bill Bradley will be singing their swan song. Davis, Leos, and Stewart will complete four years at the diamond sport, while Bradley is completing his initial season.

5 Hurlers Swap Colors In Cardinal, Phil Trade

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals sent veteran southpaw Harvey Haddix and two other pitchers to the Philadelphia Phillies for Murry Dickson and Herman Wehmeier Friday in the biggest trade of the early season.

It was a straight swap of player contracts with no cash involved, and both teams said they got what they wanted.

Phillies Manager Mayo Smith said frankly he wanted the left-handed pitching of Haddix to support the ailing Curt Simmons, who was a disappointment last season and has an 0-2 record this year. The Phillies also got two right-

HATTON TO CARDS

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—

Third baseman Grady Hatton was sold by the Boston Red Sox today to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League for an undisclosed sum.

Hatton spent eight seasons with the Cincinnati Reds from 1946-54 before moving to Boston via the Chicago White Sox.

Handers, Stu Miller and Ben Flowers, from the Cardinals.

Frank Lane, general manager of the Cards, said he gave up quantity to get "a little more quality" in his pitching. He indicated the 29-year-old Wehmeier will be a starter and Little

Dickson will be sent into the bullpen to join the venerable Ellis

Kinder.

Lane said Wehmeier should be good for 15 or 17 games for the Cards and Dickson should win seven.

"I'd sign Santa Claus if he could win seven games," the plain-speaking Lane said.

Haddix, who is 31, won 12 and lost 6 last year and is 1-0 so far this year. Dickson, who is 39, was 12-11 last year but his record this season is 0-3. Wehmeier won 10 and lost

Utah Riflemen Execute Killers At State Prison

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah, May 11 —UP— Two young killers from the Midwest were executed by a firing squad here Friday with a final public plea for others to profit by their tragic mistake.

Verne A. Braasch, 27, Reinbeck, Iowa, and Melvin L. Sullivan, 25, Kansas City, Kan., were shot at 6:15 a.m. CST by a double firing squad of 10 volunteer riflemen. A few hours before their execution the doomed men issued a public statement pleading that "our tragic lives and endings serve as a warning to all — young and old."

They were shot to death for the brutal murder of Howard Manzone, 21, a gas station attendant at Beaver, Utah, during a holdup in October, 1949.

It was the first double execution in Utah in 102 years and ended a six and one-half year court battle for their lives. The case surged as high as the U.S. Supreme Court three times on grounds the men's constitutional rights were violated. But it was turned down each time.

For their execution Braasch and Sullivan were shrouded in black hoods that reached almost to their waists. They died strapped in sturdy office chairs inside a three-sided stagelike shelter illuminated by spotlights.

One of the witnesses at the execution was Joseph A. Manzone, father of the man Braasch and Sullivan murdered.

A the same meeting Thursday night, Monroe Civilians were shocked to hear, as guest of the occasion, P.L. Foreman, popularly known as "Buddy," announce that he has been assigned to a new post with the local telephone company. He is to remove to Winnsboro and to assume charge of phone systems in that vicinity to the number of ten or more.

This will require that he relinquish his home here and give up his post as Civitan president. Also he was recently elected area lieutenant governor. "Buddy" has served as a pillar of strength in the West Monroe Civitan club and his removal will be cause of unusual regrets. The only pleasant feature of the change is the fact that he will step up a peg higher with his company.

Seems like there is a sort of epidemic of service club foundations. The latest is the announcement that there is to be a Northside club. The new group is to meet at the Antler's, located near the end of Louisville avenue. Sessions are set for Mondays at 8:50 p.m. Harry Bell is president, Jack Armstrong, vice-president; Tom Mulhearn is treasurer, and Will Smith, secretary.

Frenchie is counting days until he pulls up stakes on North Second street and opens up near the junction, Sterling, Louisville and DeSiard. He says the News-Star-World is getting farther from town and he is going to follow suit. He sure will miss the many little social "coffee groups" of professional men from the nearby Bernhardt building, but he says new friends are always welcome.

All at the weekend was in readiness for "Spring Serenade" by Estelle Sanders, prominent in local music circles. It will be given in the Neville auditorium, Monday at 8 p.m. Each year Estelle has a large and appreciative attendance and all the money goes to charity. This year she is donating all proceeds, after expenses are met to the Young Women's Christian association, which is in need of more financing since the Community Chest suspended.

All who attend will be giving a lift on the way to this worthy cause.

Well a real honor has come to Louis Stern of the Optimist club. At the convention just held in which four states participated, he was named the outstanding Optimist in all this important area.

Many congratulations. That captivating smile and ready handshake and a desire ever to be helpful to the other fellow, his at last been recognized. Jes' Ramblin' adds his congratulations.

We haven't heard the exact results but we know that many dollars were received through the Fathers' Walk for Cerebral Palsy which took place last night. It is said that every fifty-one seconds that a child is born with cerebral palsy, which is an appalling statement.

This disease is not a hereditary affliction, and is not to be so classed and may come to anyone, no family is exempt and its cause is through an injury to the brain. Physicians are endeavoring to find causes and treatment and also when money is not so directed it goes toward making those afflicted more comfortable and their life more endurable.

This project is indeed worthy! Those who aid in this cause will be blessed for their interests in stricken humanity.

Miss. Crackdown
On Whiskey Nets
2 Stills, Liquor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mississippi's highway patrol, under governor's orders to crack down on illegal whiskey shipments, broke up two moonshine stills and hundreds of gallons of untaxed whiskey Thursday night and Friday morning.

Patrolmen Jack Anderson and Merrill Pickering, working with county and federal officers near Laurel, seized a truck carrying a still.

The arrested Horace G. Twitty, 39, of Huron, Tenn., said he refused to reveal his destination with the 400-gallon still.

Two other patrolmen, Bobby Taylor and Asst. Inspector W. E. Jacobs, confiscated 134 gallons of moonshine and several pieces of still equipment during four hours of routine traffic work just north of Gulfport.

The Laurel seizure was the result of painstaking work on the part of all officers involved. They had received a tip that the huge still was scheduled for shipment and had staked out patrol cars on all back roads to intercept the truck.

Officers spotted a speeding truck on a back road and halted it. While they were examining the contents, Twitty leaped from the cab and fled.

Two lawmen caught him after a 300-yard footrace. The still was displayed on the Laurel courthouse lawn. Also confiscated were two 400-gallon cooling vats, a 10-gallon copper strainer, two condensers, two pumps, two 30-gallon mash barrels, a 250-gallon hoghead, hundreds of gallon jug tops and 33 sacks of coke and charcoal.

At Gulfport, patrolmen stopped a truck operating without a license tag and found parts of a still in the rear. They arrested Tom Hinton, 24, of Sauter.

Earlier, at Sauter, alcohol tag unit officers had destroyed a 600-gallon still and 130 gallons of whiskey. They believed the parts confiscated from Hinton were part of the same operation.

After the two officers returned from jailing Hinton to their post on U.S. Highway 49, they arrested Woodrow Bush, 43, of North Gulfport for speeding and found 14 gallons of illegal whiskey in his automobile.

They jailed him and returned to their post. A few hours later, they stopped Henry Davis, of Mobile, Ala., for running a stop sign and found 120 gallons of moonshine in his car.

The whiskey was destroyed and the still equipment turned over to the federal alcohol tax unit. Charges will be filed later.

Awards Go To 2 Tech Students

RUSTON, May 11 (Special) — Science work in elementary schools will be featured in Louisiana Tech's annual elementary teachers' conference to be held on Thursday and Friday, June 7-8, Dr. G. W. Bond, dean of the School of Education, has announced.

Consultant for the workshop will be Dr. Herman Schneider, a science specialist of the City College of New York. Dr. Schneider will address the conference at each of the first periods on both days. After the mid-morning recess, a laboratory period will be conducted to show teachers how to build and operate simple science equipment. The afternoon sessions will be devoted to discussions of units, projects, charts and other phases of elementary science work.

All meetings will be held in air-conditioned sections of Iva Adams Hall. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. each day and the program will begin at 9 a.m. each day.

Dormitory space for both men and women may be reserved through application to C. T. Woodard, Box 537, Tech Station, Ruston. Meals will be available in the Tech dining hall at a nominal cost.

The consultant for the two-day conference, Dr. Schneider, formerly was supervisor of elementary science in New York City schools. He has lectured and participated in workshops throughout the East, South, and Middle West. He is the co-author, with his wife, Nina, of 26 books on elementary science. These books have been translated into 17 languages.

The club also voted to sponsor the Monroe Maniacs club, composed of teen-agers interested in flying model airplanes. Sponsor of the group is Lewis Bennett who was present at the meeting.
